Cleaning County

Nearly 150 persons took part in the task of cleaning-up approximately 25 miles of Pettis County roads in the anti-litter drive Saturday. Shown above working on one of the six large dump truck loads of rubbish which were collected are (left to right): Maurice Tucker, 325 North Summit, Samuel Green, 1514 East Seventh, and Jewell Adams, 502 East 13th. The variety of litter ranged from dead fish to a rocking chair. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Apollo 10 Appears Ready for Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Rested and ready, the Apollo 10 astronauts Saturday were flashed the go-ahead to rocket Sunday on a moon-orbit voyage that could clear the way for a lunar landing by two Americans in July.

Problems with a spaceship dehumidifier, which caused concern for several hours Saturday, were successfully overcome, and "project officials have determined the spacecraft environmental control system is go for launch," the space agency said.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, pronounced Apollo 10 astronauts Thomas Stafford, Eugene A. Cernan and John W. Young "were rested" as he recalled how the earth-orbit Apollo 9 flight last March was postponed three days because the pilots suffered from colds and fatigue.

The dehumidifier problem involved a device in the spaceship's environmental control system which, during initial testing, did not remove enough moisture from oxygen flowing into the pilot's space csuits. Crews solved the difficulty by unclogging holes in porous plates that draw off the water during flight.

George M. Low, Apollo spacecraft program manager, said three porous plates which draw off water during flight were not picking up enough moisture during servicing on the ground, and "until they are properly serviced, we cannot proceed with the launch."

Packing a color television camera and United States and Georgia Tech flags, Apollo 10 astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan are to thunder away from earth atop a 363-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket.

During an eight-day flight, the trio hopes to circle the moon's equator 31 times with Stafford and Cernan twice zipping in a lunar module, LEM, landing craft 9.3 miles over Apollo 11's intended touchdown site—closer than man has ever been to another celestial body.

It will be a complete dress rehearsal of the landing mission itself, with the exception of the final descent to the surface and blasting off the moon's crater-pocked crust for the return trip to earth.

"We have determined from previous missions that there are a lot of questions that still aren't answered," particularly what effect the moon's unusual gravity characteristics has on two spaceships trying to rendezvous in lunar orbit, Stafford said.

WEATHER

Showers and thunder showers ending by early Sunday. Turning cooler. Clearing late Sunday. High in the 60's and lower 70's. Generally fair and cool Sunday night. Considerable sunshine and pleasant on Monday.

Sunset Sunday will be at 8:21 p.m; sunrise Monday will be at 5:58 a.m.

Tax Increases, Budget Are Lawmakers' Dilemma

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — It's that same old question all over again—which came first the chicken or the egg?

The Missouri House came up with one answer—a few-weeks ago but the Senate now seems to be leaning the other way. That is not new for the Missouri Senate and House, however.

This time the question is whether to pass about $1.3 billion in budget bills to finance the government and its services in the coming year and then pass what tax increases are needed to meet the cost.

Or whether to pass the tax increases the Legislature thinks the tax-burdened public will accept without too great a political squawk and then fit the budget to the expected income.

The House took the latter course and first passed a package of bills designed to produce an increase of about $130 million in next year's revengues.

Editor's Note—The figure "130 million" is the least elastic and at the most just a hoped for amount. Lots of individuals, experts, committees and forecasters have come up with figures, but apparently $130 million is as good as any—or at least until a new one is offered.

Then the House passed, almost intact, the governor's budget proposals, there were some slashes taken in some areas, noticably in higher education and in some agencies such as agriculture, but the reported cut of $28 million in a $1,337,000,000 budget isn't much more than a bag of peanuts.

Members of the Senate Appropriations Committee say they're acting more like the second largest automobile rental agency. They're trying harder.

The committee worked through most of the weekend on bills that the House sent over. Sen J.F. Pat Patterson, D-Caruthersville, chairman, said he hoped the bills would be ready when the Senate comes back to work Monday. It was just a hope, he said.

This brings back the original theme of this discussion—the bit about the chicken and the egg.

Confident Of ABM Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's confidential polls show it is now behind, 46 to 44, but its leaders still express a conviction that they can squeeze out Senate approval of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

House approval is accepted as certain so the Senate holds the key.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, who is calling the shots, is telling his colleagues to hold their fire until just before an expected June showdown.

Laird professes confidence there will be some switches among those now listed publicly as opposing deployment of Safeguard. And he is counting on more than a majority of the 10 his pollsters now list as undecided.

A recent Associated Press poll credited opponents with 48 votes, only three short of a majority of the 51 needed to defeat a proposal on which Vice President Spiro T. Agnew could cast a vote in case of a tie. The AP survey listed 46 supporters, with only six undecided.

An old hand at congressional maneuvering, the defense secretary is content to wait until the vote gets much nearer before wheeling out the siege guns.

Obviously, Laird expects that when the hour is near Nixon will have heart-to-heart talks with some Republicans listed as ABM opponents.

At that point, Laird and the President are expected to bear down on what they see as the possibly dreadful consequences of not matching Soviet deployment of antimissiles.

US Army Headquarters Under Rocket Attack

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army headquarters in a large military complex near Saigon came under Rocket attack Saturday night and military sources said the U.S. Command is bolstering the complex with more than 1,000 American troops to meet a mounting new enemy threat.

U.S. officials said between 5 and 15 rounds hit the base. Casualties and damage were not immediately known.

Military experts believe the Viet Cong 5th Division is mobilizing for another strike against the complex in the Long Binh and Bien Hoa area about 12 miles north of Saigon. Along with the U.S. Army's South Vietnam headquarters, the complex also includes the U.S. 2nd Field Force and a large ai base.

American and South Vietnamese commanders throughout the country have alerted their troops to be prepared for stepped up action to mark the windup of Secretary of State William P. Rogers' visit and the 79th birthday Monday of North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh.

The military sources said two battalions of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division have been shifted from War Zone C along the Cambodian border to Zone D northeast of the capital to protect the military complex.

The Viet Cong's 5th Division was reported moving southeast out of War Zone D after replacing heavy casualties it sustained last February when it mounted an unsuccessful offensive against Bien Hoa.

One ranking government source said a series of planned enemy attacks had been thwarted thus far by a combination of police vililance and the clumsiness of the terrorists themselves. The source said one enemy ploy called for firing a mortar at one of the sites to be visited by Rogers.

Intelligence data indicated that the next 36 hours would be crucial.

"We've done pretty well so far but we're not in the clear yet," one American source said of the past several days, in which enemy sapper teams have been frustrated repeatedly in Saigon.

Rogers is scheduled to wind up his four-day Vietnam visit Monday. He made a field trip into the Mekong Delta Saturday and was slated to be out of Saigon again Sunday, but is spending his nights in the city. His movements are surrounded by tight security.

At Tan Son Nhut air base on the city's northern outskirts, 10,000 U.S. airmen were restricted to quarters in anticipation of a new wave of terror attacks.

South Vietnamese troops in the Saigon area have been on standby alert since the Viet Cong launched a terror wave 10 days ago. Allied officials believe it will continue through Monday, the date of Ho's birthday.

On his birthday a year ago, Viet Cong gunners hit Saigon with more than 20 rockets, killing 11 persons and wounding 51.

The Viet Cong fired 122mm rockets into the capital's southeastern outskirts early Saturday, wounding one woman. A few hours later, about dawn, a plastic explosive charge damaged an electrical power substation, wounding one civilian.

Seven persons were wounded Saturday evening in an enemy grenade attack on a government civil defense office in the capital.

Saigon police reported Saturday that 20 Viet Cong were arrested Thursday in a search operation in the city's 5th Precinct which includes the Chinese sector in Cholon.

Nixon Visits Carrier

ABOARD USS SARATOGA (AP) — President Nixon flew to this Atlantic Fleet carrier Saturday and told its crew, "You are the peace forces of the world."

After awarding Medals of Honor to two Army heroes, Nixon flew by helicopter to the deck of the Saratoga, steaming some 45 miles off Norfolk, Va., as part of a 14-ship armada.

The commander-in-chief told the assembled crew that "when you hear criticism of the military complex" or of what is wrong with the United States and its armed forces, it should be remembered that, the nation's military might is committed to peace—not war.

As the presidential helicopter circled the armada on arrival, enlisted men in white uniforms lined the rails of the vessels. A 21-gun salute marked his boarding of the 13-year-old carrier.

Demos Told Convention Might End in War Room

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders meeting to consider convention reforms were told Saturday that the party may have to select its 1972 presidential nominee in the Pentagon War Room unless the Vietnam conflict has ended by then.

This bizarre forecast came from Teddy O'Toole, 23, the reform commission's youngest member and the 1968 national chairman of the Student Coalition for Humphrey-Muskie.

He told the commission headed by Rep. James G. O'Hara of Michigan that discontent spawned by the war and the draft, rather than the convention's structure, were responsible for the violence attending the 1968 nominating sessions in Chicago.

Earlier witnesses had proposed that the size of the convention be cut drastically; that voting be weighted to reflect varying ballot-casting by states; that access to the convention floor be limited mainly to delegates; and that the 1972 convention be held on a large college campus rather than in a major city.

"If this commission had come up with a perfect proposal the fiasco that happened there would have happened anyway," O'Toole said, blaming discontent on "a war in Vietnam people do not support, a draft that is driving people out of their heads.

"If the war continues and the draft continues, we might as well make our preparations to hold the convention in the War Room of the Pentagon in 1972 if we want to hold it in peace."

Stephen A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, said the delegate total should be limited to the approximate size of the House of Representatives, which has 435 members.

Prof. Paul T. David of the Woodrow Wilson Department of Government and Foreign Affairs, University of Virginia, suggested from 1,000 to 1,500 voting delegates, with each state receiving two votes for each electoral vote it casts plus one extra delegate for each 100,000 votes it cast for president in the 1968 election.

Prof. Alexander M. Bickel of Yale Law School said that was too big. "I suggest that the convention should be the size of Congress, House and Senate together (535)," he said.

Two are Killed In Road Mishap

PATTERSON, Mo. (AP)—Two persons were killed and a third seriously injured Saturday when the car they were in went out of control and swerved into the path of a truck near Patterson, Missouri highway patrolmen said.

Those killed were identified as Dennis Montgomery, 33, of St. Louis and Mrs. Zella Eads, 64, of Greenville, Mo. The patrol said Shelby Kirk Jr., of St. Louis apparently the driver of the car, was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital with chest and rib injuries.

Resources Budget Approved

A budget of $678,493, including a provision for year-round Head Start in Pettis County, was approved at a meeting Thursday night in Carrollton of the board of Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corp.

The budget provides for 40,300 for a year-round Heard Start program in Pettis County to begin Sept. 3, for 40 youngsters. This would provide some continuity for summer Head start, which has already been funded at about $24,000 for 100 children. Presumably the most needy of the 100 children would be continued under the September Head Start program.

The total budget for the six-county antipoverty program breaks down as follows: Head Start, $355,575; Manpower $54,524; Community Services, $35,000; Administration, $53,394; Neighborhood Youth Corps, $180,000.

Missouri Valley spokesmen said the budget is dependent upon current levels of federal spending being maintained. Final word on this is expected before next month.

Also approved at the Carrollton meeting was a proposal to base the Manpower

Says Nixon Should Follow Through

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Averell Harriman, praising President Nixon's latest speech on Vietnam, says the President should follow through with a prompt pullout of some 50,000 U.S. troops and a priority effort for a mutual scaledown of the fighting.

"Then increasing numbers, in accordance with President Nixon's proposal, can be withdrawn as the North Vietnamese withdraw theirs—not just to Cambodia, but north of the 20th parallel, about 200 miles above the Demilitarized Zone," he added.

Harriman was President Lyndon B. Johnson's chief negotiator at the Paris peace talks from the time they first began in May 1968 until Nixon took office in Januay.

In an interview at his Washington home, the veteran Democratic diplomat and former New York governor outlined his view that a mutual reduction of violence in Vietnam—with a U.S. initiative in "taking a more defensive position" and demanding a like response from the enemy—is needed to promote progress in the negotiations.

"I do not believe there will be much progress at Paris until there is a reduction of violence in Vietnam," he said.

Nixon's 8-point plan, set forth in his Wednesday night speech, proposed a mutual U.S.-North Vietnamese withdrawal of major forces over a 12-month span but did not specify a pre-ceasefire scaling down of hostilities to improve the negotiating climate.

In Harriman's opinion, such a step would have been possible following the withdrawal of some North Vietnamese forces after last November's halt in the bombing of the North. The U.S. action then, however, was to keep applying military pressure in the South.

Harriman urged that Nixon authorize Harriman's successor at Paris, Henry Cabot Lodge, to negotiate a mutual reduction in the level of hostilities as an urgent early step.

Following are highlights of Harriman's views:

—On Nixon's speech:

"It was important, constructive and useful.

"I was impressed by his willingness to be flexible in the way to reach, what he termed, our 'limited objectives.'

"It was a statement of the President's policies over quite a large area which had not been made before. Some of them are obviously a continuation of President Johnson's positions and some are clarifications, and some are plowing new ground. But it was important that everyone knew what the President's position was on all these matters . . . ."

—On the 10-point plan set forth by the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front at Paris last week:

"It contained no polemics. Both the NLF and the President want to have free elections, but neither the President's plan or the 10 points specify how we are going to get free elections. . . "

—On what the United States should do now in Paris and in Vietnam:

"To me, of first importance is agreement on the mutual reduction of hostilities and violence leaeing to a ceasefire . . . "

Escape Serious Injury

Five youths in the demolished 1967 Rambler (upper photo) escaped serious injury in a two-car accident 1½ miles west of Gasoline Alley on Main Street Road about 1:45 p.m. Saturday. An ambulance attendant is shown putting one of the injured on a stretcher (lower photo) as bystanders look on; the two girls on the right were also injured in the accident. The car toppled a utility pole and filpped several times.

Computer Provides Concert

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Computerized space music filled the air and the audience became part of the scenery at a futuristic concert Friday night that had everything except a conductor.

The scene was the University of Illinois' dome-shaped Assembly Hall.

As members of the audience milled about the center stage wearing fluorescent paper smocks which glowed under the black-light areas and under moving spotlights, they were bombarded by sounds from seven harpsichords and dozens of tapes of music created and played by a computer.

The 4½-hour event was staged by composers John Cage, a visiting research professor in the university's school of music, and Lejaren Hiller, a professor of music at State University of New York at Buffalo.

The two have been working on the computer-developed music for two years.

Cage said the idea of the concert was to bombard the audience with a quantity of sights and sounds.

"Quantity is becoming the essence of art now because people are moving at a faster pace. With this bombardment by audio and visual sounds, a person has a choice of what he wants to hear and see," he said.

Cage and Hiller achieved the bombardment with quite a collection of equipment—7 harpsichords, 631 pages of music, 52 tape machines, 208 tapes, 59 power amplifiers, 59 loudspeakers, 40 motion picture films, 8,000 picture slides, 8 movie projectors, 80 slide projectors, 11 100-by-40-foot screens and one circular screen 340 feet in circumference.

While the music was performed, slide and movie projectors showed scenes from outer space, including moon and earth shots provided by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Thieu Says Meeting With U.S. President Essential

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today he feels a meeting with President Nixon is a necessity in order to set up common policy in the present military and political situation.

Thieu, who met for more than two hours with Secretary of State William P. Rogers Friday, said of the timing for a meeting, "the sooner the better." He evidently would like it held in Washington if Nixon is favorable to the idea.

Thieu authorized this comment when newsmen asked him to state his position: "President Thieu hopes to have a meeting with President Nixon because he feels it is a necessity to set up a common policy in this situation—but not to try to impose on President Nixon when and where and how to meet."

Thieu declined to go into detail. Presumably he sees a need now to project common policy lines beyond the eight-point peace program put forward by Nixon in a speech Wednesday.

American officials from Rogers on down have sought to dispel reports there are differences between Washington and Saigon over the Nixon peace plan. Rogers discussed it with Thieu during their meetings Friday and said relations between the two governments "have never been better."

In a statement Thursday night, Thieu said Nixon's peace program was "consistent with the spirit" of the six principles he presented to his parliament April 7. Diplomatic observers said that was about as far as he could go publicly to show he isn't too enthusiastic.

After the issue of troop withdrawals, one of the most critical problems is how to handle the demand for a coalition government put forward in the National Liberation Front's 10-point plan.

A high Vietnamese source says that no government with Communists in it will be acceptable unless and until the South Vietnamese have held free elections.

When Nixon suggested elections be held "as soon as possible" after an international supervisory body was set up here, it caused immediate concern in the Thieu government.

Accidents

Three persons were taken to Bothwell Hospital following a one-car accident, one-tenth mile east of Route W on Route DD, about three miles south of Smithton at 11:30 a.m. Friday.

According to the Highway Patrol, a westbound 1966 Chevrolet driven by John Leslie Coxin, 16, 2218 West Second, ran off the road on the wrong side, went over an embankment and landed in a creek.

Injured were Coxin; Richard Boss, 16, 2300 East Ninth; and Richard Schwall, address unknown.

Schwall apparently suffered only bruises and was released immediately.

Coxin suffered a laceration to the left arm and Boss sustained a fractured left shoulder. They were both treated and released.

Paul's Wrecker Service towed the car from the scene.

Trooper Sam Morris investigated the accident.

A 1962 Chevrolet driven north on Engineer by Wilbert F. Tobaben, 37, 1211 East Tenth, and a 1958 Plymouth driven north on Engineer by Charles H. Louchs, Jr., 26, 1713 South Osage, were involved in an accident in the 900 block of South Engineer at 5:52 p.m. Friday.

The left side of the Chevrolet and the right front of the Plymouth were damaged.

A two-car accident involving a 1966 Chevrolet driven south on Osage by Grace Barnes, 55, 715 East 16th, and a 1964 Ford driven south on Osage by Marilyn M. Pottorff, 28, LaMonte, occurred at the intersection of Broadway and Osage at 5:03 p.m. Thursday.

The rear of the Chevrolet and the left front of the Ford were damaged.

Jasper C. Gray, 54, 120 East Jefferson, is listed in fair condition by Bothwell Hospital authorities following an accident in the 200 block of East Main at 1:11 a.m. Saturday.

According to police, Gray was walking north across Main Street when he was struck by a 1968 Triumph motorcycle operated by Arnold L. Sommers, 26, Kansas City.

Gray was treated for a laceration to his left eye and a compound fracture of one leg and admitted to the hospital.

Sommers and a passenger on the cycle, James Roark, 26, 1310 East Fifth, were apparently examined and released at the hospital.

Sommers was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Five youths escaped serious injury in a two-car accident 1.6 miles southwest of Gasoline Alley about 1:45 p.m. Saturday.

According to the Highway Patrol a westbound 1963 Chevrolet driven by Roy Taylor Crosslin, 64, 1528 East Sixth, and an eastbound 1967 Rambler driven by Michael Eugene Ross, 18, 1121 West 16th, sideswiped on a hill-top. The Rambler went out of control, toppled a utility pole, struck some fence posts and flipped over several times, landing on its top.

M.L. Hopper, Route 3, who lives about a block and a half from where the car came to rest, said it sounded to him like he'd "need to call the coroner." However, all five occupants of the car walked up to Hopper's house and he notified authorities.

The iniured, Sadie Renne Rehmer, 11, 1901 South Stewart; Angela Venable, 17, 2408 South Quincy; Lola Burkhead, 9, 2408 South Quincy, and Janice Sue Rehmer, 15, 1901 South Stewart, were taken to Bothwell Hospital by the Pettis County and the Sedalia Ambulance Services.

Crosslin was not injured in the accident. Ross reportedly refused medical attention.

The injured were treated for multiple bruises, abrasions and lacerations and released.

Sadie Rehmer was reportedly thrown from the car.

Live wires across the roadway, caused by the broken utility pole, created a hazard near the scene for a while.

Ross was issued a summons by Trooper Joe Dayringer, the investigating officer, for careless and imprudent driving.

The Chevrolet sustained relatively minor damage to the left side while the demolished Rambler was towed from the scene by the Paul's Gulf Station wrecker.

It was incorrectly stated in Friday's Democrat and Capital that a 1965 Pontiac driven by Goldie Estes, 34, 320 North Park, was involved in a collision with a 1961 Chevrolet driven east on Fifth by Joils H. Kurtz, 74, 320 East Fourth, in the 600 block of East Fifth at 5:19 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Estes' car was parked when the accident occured.

Broadway and Thompson was the scene of a one-car accident at 1:47 a.m. Saturday.

According to the police report a 1967 Chevrolet driven west on Broadway by Roy C. Riley, 18, Route 3, left the roadway, struck two highway signs, a large rock, ran through the R.H. Sims yard at 620 East Broadway and struck some concrete steps.

Riley told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

The left front and underside of the car were damaged.

A 1968 Chevrolet driven by Althony W. Stevens, 18, 2501 West 16th, struck a gas pump at Paul's Gulf Station, Broadway and Limit, at 3:10 a.m. Saturday, according to police.

Stevens was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

A two-car accident occurred at 628 East 16th at 2:31 p.m. Saturday.

Involved were a parked 1969 Dodge owned by George T. Camp, 39, Route 4, Popular Bluff, and a 1968 Dodge driven east on 16th by Victor E. Browning, 21, Ionia.

Browning told police he fell asleep at the wheel.

The car traveled 59 feet along an embankment by the street before striking the parked car.

The front of the Browning auto and the rear of Camp's auto were damaged.

Browning was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Improved Viewing Of Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When the Apollo 10 astronauts turn on their newest television camera and transmit to earth next week, you probably will notice one improvement more significant than the fact that the picture is in color for the first time from space.

More notable will be their natural human movements. With the new camera, developed by Westinghouse for military projects and adapted to Apollo 10 in less than three months, those jerky motions from previous flights are replaced by normal action.

The new camera transmits at the 525 scan lines that appear on home television screens, while the flickering action on the camera used previously resulted from its transmission at only 200 scan lines.

As for color, inside pictures may be a disappointment. Virtually everything in the spacecraft is a bland gray.

Stanley Lebar, Westinghouse program manager for Apollo cameras, said in checking for colored objects to photograph in the spacecraft, a crew came up with a short list: the Apollo 10 cloth patches and American flags on the astronauts' uniforms, the red cross on the first aid kit and the flesh tones of the astronauts' faces.

"But the view everyone is looking forward to is the earth in color," Lebar said.

There will be a delay of 10 seconds from the time the picture is received in the space center at Houston until it is sent out. In this time, the red, green and blue sequence signals from the color wheel camera will be synchronized through two video tape recorders.

It wouldn't be necessary to do this for home color TV sets, said the camera's developer, Larkin Niemyer, but it is done so that TV networks and stations can videotape it and play it back later.

The color camera the astronauts will use in the command module weighs 13 pounds. They also will have a three-pound monitor which they can attach to the camera or to the metal spacecraft or hold in one hand.

Another new camera feature is a zoom lens that can, with a twist of the astronaut's wrist, increase the size of an object nine times.

Insight To War Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — Historians and scholars soon may gain new insight into decisions and controversies of World War II by examining the private papers of Gen. Omar Bradley, the only surviving five-star general.

Plans are to house the Bradley papers with the Army's new military history research collection at Carlisle Barracks in Pennsylvania.

Apart from events of World War II, Bradley's personal correspondence also may cast new light on such episodes as President Harry S. Truman's removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur during the Korean War and interservice battling over the Air Force B36 bomber.

The 76-year-old Bradley, one of the notable field commanders of World War II, was Army chief of staff in the late 1940s and first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff after creation of the Department of Defense.

Army officials said the plan is to dedicate the Bradley collection on May 8, 1970, the 25th anniversary of the V-E Day the end of the war in Europe.

The House Armed Services Committee has cleared legislation which would permit government acceptance of the documents and provide a place to put them.

Officials at Carlisle Barracks, home of the Army War College, said only a few boxes of Bradley material have arrived. The remainder is expected in the next several months.

Ret. Maj. Gen. Ted Clifton, former military aide to the late President John F. Kennedy, said in an interview that two civilian experts are appraising the Bradley documents and other mementoes, described by Clifton as "quite valuable."

Clifton and Army authorities said they do not know how large the Carlisle research collection will be. Some is in storage and much remains at the Bradley home in Beverly Hills, Calif., Clifton said.

Clifton said the papers include correspondence with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Field-Marshall Bernard L. Montgomery. Bradley is reputed to have had strong differences with Montgomery about the campaign after the D-Day invasion of Europe.

Did Not See Fatal Shooting

MASON, Mich. (AP) — A young, convicted white prostitute testified Friday that she did not see anyone shot after police and National Guardsmen raided the Algiers Motel at the peak of Detroit's 1967 riot.

The blonde witness, Karen Malloy, 20, told her story to an all-white jury in the first-degree murder trial of Ronald August, a suspended policeman charged with slaying one of three Negro youths killed by close-range shotgun blasts at the motel.

August, who is white, has admitted in a signed statement that he killed 19-year-old Aubrey Pollard, but he contended it was in self-defense in a struggle over the weapon.

The prosecution says it was premeditated murder.

Miss Molloy told the jury of 13 women and one man that she was verbally abused and partially stripped by police when they found her in the motel with several Negro men on the night of July 26, 1967 during a search for an alleged sniper.

She said one police officer entered an upstairs room in which she and others were seeking cover, fired his rifle into the floor and bathroom and then asked if anyone was in the room.

Miss Malloy said other officers came into the room, knocked down some of the occupants and shoved them downstairs, where they all were forced to stand up against a wall in a hallway.

Under cross-examination, Miss Malloy admitted she had been convicted of prostitution since the motel incident.

August made the comment Kiss said, when he returned to a room at police headquarters where other officers were waiting to be questioned about the Algiers Motel incident.

"Well, I told them, I killed one of them" Kiss quoted August as saying, adding that it had been in self-defense.

Scout News

Mark Twain Junior Troop 328 enjoyed an overnight camp-out at Camp Sacajawea recently. Thirty-one scouts and four leaders participated. The girls took instruction in how to pitch tents, cook over an open fire and also took a hike. The group participated in a Sunday morning worship service.

On May 6, Troop 328 entertained at a tea honoring their mothers. The girls introduced their mothers and performed a folk dance, "Hey, Little Lassie." Badges were presented and then each scout gave her mother a gift which she had made. Punch and cookies were served.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Robert Weikal, Mrs. H. A. Joy, Mrs. John Bohon and Mrs. Chester Kirkpatrick

Senior Scout Troop 310 had two guest speakers at four of their recent scout meetings. Dr. L. H. Westmorland and Bill Hensley of Jefferson City gave a series of talks to the girls on boating. Each emphasized the value of safety and regulations on water.

On May 4, the girls were taught canoeing by Miss Joyce Carier. Mrs. Orrin Smith provided the canoe, paddles, and life jackets.

Miss Beverly Lane of Troop 310 attended Senior week-end at Camp Pin Oak on May 9, 10, and 11.

On May 16, 17, 18 Troop 310 camped out at Camp Bob White, Knob Noster. It was chaperoned by Mrs. Harold Lane, Scout Advisor.

Junior Girl Scout Troop 358 of Washington School celebrated Mother's Day by presenting mothers with candles trimmed in flowers and braid. They made the candles after visiting the home of Mrs. Mary Barnes to see her candle display and hear hints on how they are made.

On May 7, a fly-up ceremony promoting sixth-grade scouts to cadettes was held with mothers of the new cadettes as guests. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with candles and yellow daisies.

Girls promoted to cadettes were Karen Johnston, Cindy McCubbin, Shelley Slocum, Ann McKinney, Marjorie Aldrich, Rhonda Walters, Vickie Fry, Judy Landi, Melodie Comfort and Tracy Shephard.

The scouts will end the school year with a roller skating party May 19, at Tony's Roller Rink.

Mrs. John Reque, Mrs. Harold Johnston and Mrs. Lester Harrell, Jr., are the leaders assisted by Jan Norris, Senior Scout, and Donna Reque and Jamie Hall, cadettes.

Glue produced by barnacles has twice the strength of any commercial glue now on the market, the National Geographic Society says.

'Sky King' Will Appear At Club-Police Circus

"Sky King," television star of the program of the same name will be part of the attraction of the Carson and Barnes five-ring wild animal circus to perform here Wednesday at the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

Sky King, actor Kirby Grant, plans to visit the circus here while enroute to New York. Carson and Barnes Circus was used during one of the Sky King episodes on CBS-TV.

The one-day circus performances will begin at 4:15 p.m. A second performance will be held at 8 p.m., but the doors will be open earlier to allow time for viewing the animals before entering the big top.

Announcement of the circus was made by Wes Raines, president of the Sunrise Optimist Club, and the Sedalia Police Officers Association. The groups are co-sponsors.

According to Raines, part of the proceeds from ticket sales will be used by the Optimist group for its youth activities, while the police officers' share will be used to supplement the annual Christmas Tree Party.

The circus entourage will include about 50 motorized units. Among the animals included on the tour will be elephants, llamas, camels, trained dogs, ponies and several other acts.

Whiteman Missile Crew Competing at Vandenberg

VANDENBERG AFB — Missile combat crews and maintenance teams from Whiteman AFB are currently participating in the Strategic Air Command's second missile combat competition at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

In the last competition in 1967, the Whiteman crews walked off with five out of a possible six top honors, including the coveted Blanchard Perpetual Trophy which denoted the 351st Missile Wing from Whiteman as the best ICBM unit in the Air Force.

Participating in the current exercise, which lasts until May 24, are: Capt. Michael O. Patterson, commander; and Capt. Roland E. Hahn, deputy commander in Combat Crew No. 1; Capt. Frank A. Tantillo, commander; and 1st Lt. Francis X. Rodgers, deputy commander, Combat Crew No. 2.

Missile Maintenance team: T-Sgt. Robert W. Ewers, team chief; Sgt. John D. Christy, Sgt. Maurice Bartelotte, Sgt. Calvin D. Lackman and Airman First Class James F. Luke.

Combat Targeting Team: 1st Lt. Larry G. Mayo, team chief; T-Sgt. Wetzel B. Howard, assistant team chief; and Sgt. Lawrence H. Callahan, III.

Crews and teams will be scored on the speed and precision with which they accomplish their tasks. The missile wing accumulating the most points receives the Blanchard Trophy.

Each of the three exercises will last three hours and will expose crew members to more abnormal situations and problems than they could expect in a lifetime of normal alert duty at their regular launch control facilities in Missouri.

The exercises are held in Vandenberg's Missile Procedures Trainer, a full-scale mock-up of a Minuteman Launch control facility.

Efficiency Check

Capt. Michael O. Patterson, left, missile combat crew commander, and Capt. Roland E. Hahn, deputy commander, both of Whiteman AFB, are shown running through part of the routine on which they will be tested during the Strategic Air Command's second missile combat competition at Vandenberg AFB, Calif. The last time Whiteman competed, it won the top trophy in the Air Force for its performance. (AF Photo)

Stage Demonstration Was Too Realistic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Creeps. Jerks. Crumbs," shouted passersby at the hippie-like welcoming crowd at International Airport.

"Pigs. Fascists," the welcomers shouted back.

More than 100 young people, some carrying signs reading "Viva Danny 'the Red' Cohn-Bendit," cheered the appearance of a young man with busy red hair.

Members of the group told investigating policemen Friday that the noted European student radical leader had just arrived from campus disturbances earlier in the day at Berkeley and Stanford.

Then a group spokesman stopped the show. It was only a scene staged by sudents from the University of Southern California Cinema Department to film the reaction of airport crowds, he said.

The imposters laughed for a few minutes and dispersed.

New Members Are Inducted

SWEET SPRINGS — R7 High School National Honor Society inducted eight new members in an assembly program May 7 at the school auditorium.

Carl Hamby, president of the society, was master of ceremonies. A girls trio, composed of Anita Brooks, Denise Sparks and Nancy Wienberg, accompanied by Mrs. Frances Gilmore, sang, "The Bells of St. Mary."

Active society members conducted a mock trial for the induction. Karen Flandermeyer called for witnesses from defense lawyer, Don Arni. Patsy Wade represented scholarship; Cindy Campbell, character; Sandra Harms, service to the school and June Ranes, leadership, the four qualities used to judge students accepted for membership. Miss Cora Meek, school principal, as jury foreman, announced the decision that the eight students charged were guilty of scholarship, character, school service and leadership.

Guest speaker, Russell Whyte, KMMO Radio, Marshall, and social studies teacher at R7 High, was introduced by Sherry Stober. His topic was, "Learn How to Hope, to Wait the Proper Tide." He stressed that American youth must learn American ideals and an appreciation of American heritage, hoping for better conditions through their efforts.

Following his address, Rose Mary Summers expressed appreciation to Mr. Whyte for his talk and for his four years of service to the school.

New senior class members of the National Honor Society are Shirley Guier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guier, Linda Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Egan and Mickey Kreisel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kreisel, Houstonia. Canadian Opportunity Beckons

EDITOR'S NOTE — Horace Greeley's advice to "Go West, young man," has been updated to a modern "go north" for many Americans — and for many of the same reasons. The number of Americans moving to Canada has doubled in the last six years, the reasons as varied as the people. Some are leaving in protest; others are seeking new opportunities. Here's a look at some Americans who are answering the call of Canada.

OTTAWA (AP) — Last year, more than 300,000 persons left their various homelands around the world to seek a new life, based on new opportunities, in the United States.

At the same time, unknown to most of their fellow citizens, more than 20,000 Americans packed their bags, closed up shop and headed north to Canada, for almost the same reasons.

Some will remain there permanently, some will return after building money stakes and reputations after a couple of years, and some still haven't made up their minds about future decisions.

Some left because of a vague and undefined uneasiness about the way things are going in the United States; others because of ideological reasons; still others for business reasons, and others to begin a new existence in the sparsely settled regions of this giant country.

All became "landed immigrants" here, a status giving them the right to work.

The 20,000 figure was double the number who crossed the border to Canada six years ago. The jump pushed the United States into second place as a supplier — to the delight of Canadian officials — of newcomers north of the border, second only to Great Britain.

They are not draft dodgers or others seeking to escape military service in the United States. The newcomers are mostly married couples — professors, business executives, ranchers, X-ray technicians, engineers, newspapermen, plumbers.

Canadian immigration officials say the draft dodgers account for less than 2,000 of the 20,000 who crossed.

Some of the newcomers say they are going to stay permanently in Canada because they are fed up with U.S. involvement in Vitnam, with crime in the big cities, with racial upheavals — generally, with what they feel is a general decline in the American way of life.

These are the segment the Canadian press has labeled the "disenchanted Americans who voted with their feet."

One such is Gary Dunford, a 29-year-old freelance writer and former Coast Guardman, who moved to Canada five years ago. He says: "It takes only four minutes to go through the tunnel from Detroit to Windsor but the emotional climate is so different on the other side you might as well have gone to another planet."

He doubts he will ever return to live in the United States. He is considering taking out citizenship in the country of his choice.

"I find myself thinking less and less about the United States. My interests and attitudes now are Canadian," said Dunford.

"I'm interested in the United States only so far as one is interested in the next door neighbor who is going mad. You're interested to the point of wondering whether he will go mad enough some night to run over to your house."

Dr. Leo Davids, a professor of sociology who grew up in Manhattan, said he left to escape big cities — particularly New York — and a nation he feels is one the decline.

"Essentially I moved out of New York. If you could become disembodied it would be a great place to live, but it's just a physical hazard. It's a question of staying alive for a week. It's as easy to get stabbed in New York City as it is to buy chewing gum."

A professor at Toronto's York University, Dr. Davids is now married to a Canadian woman and doubts he will ever return to the United States.

Among the "disenchanted" was one man who was involved in the antipoverty program in a large Midwestern state and left because he felt the U.S. wasn't really serious about the problems of the poor; another was a professor who said he was convinced the U.S. was on the road to a police state; another was a family — without draft-age sons — which moved north in protest over the Vietnam war.

How many leave the U.S. for these or other political or ideological reasons are hard to determine.

But says an official at the U.S. Consulate in Toronto: "If there were a significant element who came here as disenchanted Americans I would be able to put my finger on it. I would say that 90 per cent of the established families who came here came here to invest their money or they were business executives on the transfer circuit."

Ron Haggart, a columnist for the Toronto telegram, says he receives a dozen letters every few months from disenchanted Americans.

"Basically it's not the issue of the war, but the general decline of the American social fabric they write about," he says.

R. Bruns Curry, assistant deputy minister of immigration, said a survey a few years ago showed the primary reason was a pioneering search for a new frontier.

"Other than from the United States, they immigrants come for a better life. From the United States, however, they do not come for an immediate economic boost. Perhaps the same forces that caused the great move to the West in your country are causing the migration to Canada," said Curry.

Looking out the window of his office, Curry said he could be on the ski slopes within 20 minutes.

"The nearness of the country to the city is probably another factor. Heaps of Americans are just taken by the idea that you can still catch trout in a downtown river."

Canadian officials are happily watching the steady increase of Americans coming across the border. First, the Americans bring more money than most newcomers $500 is average, but the average for every American man, woman and child is $3,000 and their occupational skills are higher than any other country.

In the top category, managers and administrators, a total of 2,292 persons migrated to Canada in 1966. Of that total the United States easily supplied the largest number, 973. In the unskilled worker category, the U.S. supplied only 79 of the 7,593 who found their way into Canada.

It is being called the brain drain in reverse.

Although 23,000 Canadian migrated south last year, the occupational and educational levels are not comparable.

Art Albertson, his wife Kathy, and their four teen-aged sons are part of the business transfer circuit. They arrived in 1965, moved into a Toronto suburb and expect they will be transferred back into the United States by 1970.

"We came simply because the company asked us," explained Albertson. "We like it here but we will be glad to get back, simply because it's home."

Some of the people on the transfer circuit, with no intention of staying, fall in love with Canada and change their mind. A Texan transferred into Toronto constantly boasted to his Canadian neighbors about his home state.

There was no place like Texas and if there was anything even near it, it certainly wasn't Canada. That was a year ago. Since, he quit his job with the American firm, took one with a Canadian concern and now there is no place like Canada. Not even Texas.

America's massive investment in Canadian goods and services explains a large number of the company transfers. In Calgary, the heart of Canada's booming oil industry in Alberta, there are estimated to be between 40,000 and 50,000 Americans, mostly arrivals from the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma.

Only 20 per cent of American newcomers ever give up their U.S. citizenship, while 80 per cent of the Canadians crossing the U.S. border become American citizens.

An exception are the ranchers, men and women from the far Western states who come to Canada in search of what their parents sought when they rolled across the U.S. prairies at the turn of the century—land enough to graze hundreds of head of cattle.

If they become Canadian citizens they can get long term leases to graze their cattle on government land.

Ken and Christine Weaver had ranched the same land near Wanblee, S.D., for 18 years and had improved it as much as they could. Weaver had fought rugged winds in the winter and land that ran too dry in the summers.

But the spiraling prices of the lands he leased finally drove him out. He developed an ulcer as the pressures increased and it became nearly impossible to expand his herd.

"We just got crowded out. We were in the heart of an Indian reservation and just couldn't expand," said Mrs. Weaver.

Weaver drove up to British Columbia and Alberta and looked at the land and finally decided he would settle near Edson, a little town 120 miles west of Edmonton, the capital of Alberta. He and his wife bought the only coin-operated laundry in town while Weaver looked for the exact site he wanted.

Finally, last year he found 1,000 acres that would never run dry, where there was timber enough to break the winds. A river and two lagoons lie on the land, spotted with wooden shacks, leftovers from homesteaders who first came to the land.

He bought the property and leased another 1,200 acres.

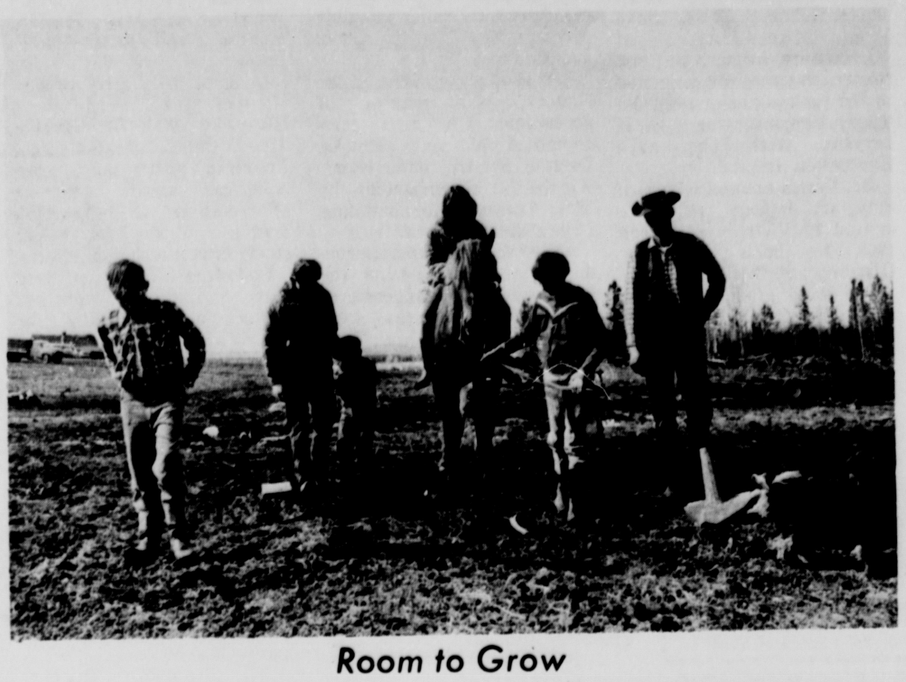
The ulcer disappeared as Weaver and his son-in-law cleared part of the land, rebuilt fences and corrals and prepared to begin ranching anew. They now have less than 50 head, but by the end of the year, they hope to have 500 head.

"This is a new country and a growing one," said Weaver, 45. "There's plenty of opportunity and a chance to expand up here. I wouldn't say ranching was the best way to invest your money, but it happens to be what I like to do."

The Weavers are among a handful of American ranchers near Edson, a town in the shadow of the Canadian Rockies.

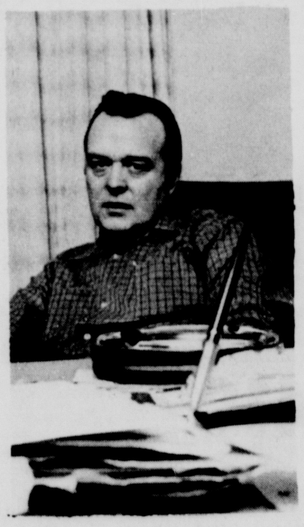
Another couple, Frank and Noma Bolick, left the U.S. for the same reasons—Montana was too crowded and they came north.

The Bolicks and their four red-headed children are living without electricity and plumbing. Her automatic washer and dryer are stored in a shed. But the Bolicks say they are going to make it in their new land.



Room to Grow

The Bolick family with their four children emigrated from Montana to Edson, Alberta, Canada, to find open space — perhaps with the same spirit which had caused their parents to venture out into the U.S. prairies at the turn of the century. Ranchers are the immigrants most likely to become Canadian citizens and to stay permanently in Canada; as citizens they can get long term leases to graze cattle on government land. (AP)



A good job offer first attracted J. William Mangles to Toronto. After a year he founded his own stereo company there, and he and his family have settled down happily. They like the clean, orderly city and way of life, and "in a way it's a relief not to have to worry about the problems at home." (AP)

Sandler and Young Hold the Spotlight

Summer Singing

Sandler and Young will be seen this summer on the TV show, "Music Hall." Tony Sandler (left), a Belgian, and Ralph Young, a New Yorker, met in Las Vegas some six years ago and have harmonized successfully since then. The blend of Sandler's music background and Young's theatrical experience seems to strike the right chord as far as audiences are concerned. (AP)

NEW YORK (AP) — Every spring, viewers wonder why the television networks don't use the summer months to try out new shows and introduce those new faces they always say they are hunting.

And every spring the networks make an inordinately big fuss about the piteously few hours in their summer schedules in which new material will be shown.

This year is really no exception. It may be, in fact, a little leaner than last season when "Peyton Place" was around with a couple of new episodes weekly.

But NBC's "Music Hall," once again, will continue with weekly programs that are new, and that, even if there were no other reason for gratitude, makes it something special.

This summer's stalwarts in the "Music Hall's" summer shows are the singing team of Sandler and Young, plus "Laugh-In's" Judy Carne, who will turn out a dozen variety hours in London. Another six, made in Hawaii, will star Don Ho.

Neither Ho nor Sandler and Young can really be counted as new faces, since they've been seen all over television during the past few seasons. Miss Carne, of course, shot to fame on the tail of "sock it to me."

In the choice of the singing team, however, one finds something pretty novel for television: a pair of mature men with musical training and experience, achieving star status if only in TV's summer skies—and neither can play guitar.

They have been a team for only six years and, as Young says, "all the good things that have happened to us have been accidental."

Young, a New Yorker, had been what is called a "production singer" and band vocalist for years. A fine baritone, he didn't have much happen to him until he signed for a night club revue that was to play one of the Las Vegas hotels.

Sandler, a Belgian, had been singing since he was a boy soprano, and was picked out of thousands of applicants for the famous Gregorian Boys Choir. One of his first public appearances was in a concert for Pope Pius XII. He studied music in a conservatory until he was 20 and started a European career that, while substantial, never was particularly flashy.

Sandler, too, was signed for the Las Vegas show.

To kill time between rehearsals, the two baritones started singing together. They worked comfortably and their voices blended nicely. Then they began creating special material out of Sandler's big European repertoire, using various languages.

"We kept on singing for our own amusement when the show got to Vegas," said Young, with a reminiscent grin. "After all, we had to do something. Who was going to look at us? We just filled in some empty spots between the numbers with the girls."

A producer heard them sing at a party one night and signed them as a team for another Las Vegas show, an Americanized version of the "Folies Bergere."

Eventually, though, they were booked into Harrah's at Lake Tahoe. Comedian Phil Silvers saw them, was impressed and spoke of them to Polly Bergen and her agent-husband, Freddie Fields. This led directly to their being signed to backstop Polly in her Las Vegas act. It was so successful the three continued to play together.

After that came television's normal progression to variety shows and to the late-evening talk-and-variety programs—"Merv Griffin did us the most good, I think," said Sandler—and then on to top bookings like Ed Sullivan and club dates like the New York Plaza's Persian Room.

Retired Teachers In Spring Meeting

The annual spring meeting of the Missouri Retired Teachers Association, held at the Governor Hotel, Jefferson City, Wednesday was attended by Miss Catherine Garman of Sedalia, secretary of the state association, and by other members of the Sedalia Community Retired Teachers Association: Miss Francis Garman, president; Wilfred C. Lee, treasurer and legislative chairman; Mrs. Gertrude Roe, chairman of the shut-ins committee; and Mrs. Anna Belle Lee, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Marion Smith, national director of Area VI of the National Retired Teachers Association, was the principal speaker at the meeting, using as her subject "What NRTA Means to Me."

Among the advantages she mentioned were insurance protection, power to influence legislation in behalf of retired teachers, the NRTA drug service, and a defensive driving course.

She called attention to the fact that May is Senior Citizens Month, and suggested that this fact be given publicity by local chapters. The theme of this sixth annual observance is "Meeting the Challenge of the Later Years." She stated that anyone who has ever taught, and who is interested, can belong to the Retired Teachers Association.

Mrs. Smith was introduced by the state president, Mrs. Ava Meador Everts of Sarcoxie, who also presided at the business meeting which followed the program.

New officers for 1969-71, to begin serving in July, were elected. They were president, Mrs. Gail Powell, Kirksville; first vice-president, Mrs. Ida Bieber, University City; second vice-president, Mrs. Anna Edwards, Kansas City; third vice-president, Mrs. Ethel Delany, Poplar Bluff; recording secretary, Miss Kama Catlin, Carthage. Mrs. Ruth T. Gibson of Springfield will serve two more years as treasurer. Miss Bessie Perkins of Sedalia was a member of the nominating committee.

Dairy Event To Feature Van Dyke

LeRoy Van Dyke

The American Dairy Association of Missouri is sponsoring a dairy princess program this year, and a district beauty contest will be held here June 3.

The contest for district 4, consisting of Caldwell, Carroll, Cass, Clay, Jackson, Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis, Platte, Ray and Saline Counties, will be held at the Agriculture Building on the State Fairgrounds.

To be eligible to enter the contest, candidates must be at least 16, but not over 25 years of age, single, and have a dairy farm background. Personality, speech, natural beauty, grooming and dairy knowledge will be considered in scoring the contestants. Eligible young ladies interested in the contest may obtain information and application blanks from Joe W. Davis, Smithton, chairman or from county extension centers in the district.

The contest winner will serve the district until the state contest in September. The state winner will serve as Missouri Dairy Princess and will be eligible to enter the national contest in June, 1970. The girl selected as American Dairy Princess receives a $2,000 cash scholarship and the alternate princess receives a $500 cash scholarship.

LeRoy Van Dyke and the Auctioneers will entertain at the June 3 district coronation, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Agriculture Building. Van Dyke is a native Sedalian.

Paid Fine When It Was Too Late

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) The honesty of a Michigan man has placed a Flagstaff justice of the peace in a quandary.

Robert Hodgson, 35, of Dearborn Heights, Michigan, sent Justice of the Peace James Brierly a $20 check Friday to pay for a speeding ticket.

The ticket was written Nov. 25, 1959.

Brierly says his problem is the 1959 records have been placed in storage and the statute of limitations has long past.

"I still haven't lost faith in human nature," said Brierly. "I may just have to return the check and thank him for his honesty, even though it is a bit delayed."

Home Movie Buff Meets FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leonard Donahe's home movies from Christmas are ready now —the FBI has finished editing the film.

Donahe and his wife came to Washington last Christmas to be with their daughter for the holidays and await the birth of their first grandchild.

Donahe, a 30-year resident of Fort Dodge, Iowa, used a lot of film in shooting movies of his daughter's home and the area in and around Washington. The movie-making made them the object of a four-month security investigation.

The trouble started innocently when the Donahes and their daughter, Mrs. Larry Handy, went for a drive in the suburban Maryland countryside, hoping the ride on bumpy Route 28 might speed her labor.

They stopped on the road three miles west of Rockville while Donahe shot some home movies of the Army's Nike missile base including the white radar dome.

"It looked like a big white golf ball on stilts," said Mrs. Donahe.

The FBI showed up last February at their Iowa home after tracing a license number and talking with Donahe's fellow employes at National Gypsum Co. in Fort Dodge.

"He seemed satisfied and said the whole thing would probably be dropped," said Mrs. Donahe. But the agent came back several weeks later and asked for the film.

"By then we could have sold anything we wanted to the Russians," Mrs. Donahe said.

She told the agent the film had been sent to Mr. and Mrs. Handy in Maryland. At the end of April an agent went to the Handy home and took the film. It was returned 10 days later with the Nike scenes edited out, she said.

An FBI spokesman in the bureau's regional office, asked to explain why pictures could not be taken of objects visible from public roads, said: "Any time anyone would take a picture of a restricted area it could present a problem of possible security aspects. I just don't want to get involved in a discussion of all government policies that have to do with restricted areas."

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

Sedalia, Missouri, Sunday, May 18, 1969 — Section B

Samothrace Members

SFCC Samothrace Club Is Chartered Wednesday

The State Fair Community College Samothrace Club, sponsored by the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club, was chartered Wednesday evening at a dinner at Bothwell Hotel.

Bonnie Schroeder was installed as the first president, with Rosemary Mumbower, vice-president; Joyce Aurig, secretary; Bonnie Deuschle, treasurer, and Bonnie Ransdell, reporter.

Mrs. Helen Epple, Clinton, first vice-president of the Missouri Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, presented the charter explaining the purpose of the new organization. While the Samothrace Club is not a part of the Business and Professional Women's Club, she said it is sponsored by it, and this is the second Samothrace Club in Missouri.

The name, Mrs. Epple stated, is taken from part of the BPWC emblem, Winged Victory of Samothrace, the emblem of womanhood triumphant. It is an organization of young college undergraduates that will have dinner meetings at which there will be speakers to aid in guidance toward full production of women power in adult life regardless of whether they choose a career as a homemaker or in the business world.

She then presented the framed charter to Miss Schroeder.

The new officers were installed by Mrs. Nyra Price, president of the Sedalia BPWC.

Mrs. Betty Blackwell chairman of the Samothrace committee, and Mrs. Vivian Warren, a member of the committee, stood beside the girls at the installation table. The table was covered with white lace over light blue, with large blue bows at either end. In the center were two large blue candles in blue and gold candlesticks around the base of which were blue flowers. Mrs. Price told the girls that the two flames represented the high ideals and goals of the club.

She asked Miss Schroeder to light the purple candle from the flame, which she said represented leadership. The blue candle, lighted by Miss Mumbower, vice-president, represented wisdom; the red candle was a symbol of recording the story of the club and was lighted by Miss Aurig, secretary; the green candle was lighted by Miss Deuschle, treasurer, symbolizing prosperity and success; the gold candle, symbol of loyal service and assistance was lighted by Miss Ransdell, reporter.

Mrs. Blackwell presented to Miss Schroeder the Samothrace pin and Mrs. Warren presented her the gavel in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

Other members of the club are: Cherrie Holt, Sharon Adams, Janice Pahlow, Lessie Jones, Kay Beth President, Kathy Smethers, Linda Hall, Martha Sievers, Janice Jackson, Kathy Parks, Betty Perriguey, Beth Bishop, Carolyn Thomas, Theresa Weathers, Linda Schupp and JoAnn Tripp.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Blackwell. Dr. Thomas D. Hall, pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Church, gave the invocation.

Dr. Joyce Fielding, director of admissions and personnel services at the college, spoke briefly, noting that this is the first such organization in the college. It is a beginning of a tradition there which will bring about a relationship between the young students and women of the community, she said.

Dr. Fielding congratulated them on the new organization and gave them best wishes for a successful charter year.

Members of the Samothrace committee with Mrs. Blackwell were: Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, Mrs. Vivian Warren and Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, advisor.

Guests at the head table introduced by Mrs. Blackwell were: Fred Davis, president of SFCC, and Mrs. Davis; Mrs. Helen Epple, Clinton, Mrs. Myra Price, Dr. Joyce Fielding, Miss Nancy Catron, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hall; Mrs. Mary Jo McGuire, Knob Noster, District 2, south director, and the officers of the new Samothrace Club.

Miss Hazel Palmer, a past president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was also introduced.

Guests introduced by Miss Catron were: Roy Brown, president of Kiwanis Club; June Brown, Altrusa Club; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bruns, Madeline Burke, SFCC; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Woolery; Verlene Potter, SFCC; Alberta Stevenson, president of Gravois Mills BPWC Club; Gertie McKenzie, Gravois Mills Club; Norma Byrd, Knob Noster, BPWC Club; Ima Jean Oetting, Knob Noster BPWC Club; Hazel Lawson, BPWC Club, Knob Noster; Marion Clark, Warrensburg, Mary Briggs, Clinton and William H. Hall.

A musical program was presented by the State Fair Community College Choral Club under the direction of Mrs. Donald Barnes, with Mrs. Robert Woolery as accompanist. The group sang "Wonderful Guy," from South Pacific, and "Born Free." Kathy Trautman, soloist, sang "Matchmaker" and the girls did "Downtown."

The benediction was by Dr. Hall.

An arrangement of blue iris and white chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece for the speaker's table and blue candles on three branch candelabra at either end of the table. Blue candles were also intervals along each of the tables.

Would Push Away Sea for Ranchers

MIAMI (AP) — Havana Radio says Fidel Castro plans to dry up a bit of the sea and set up ranches on its floor.

The project would link by land the Cuban mainland and the Isle of Pines, some 30 miles across the Gulf of Batabano.

"Enormous levees would be constructed between the two coasts, and the water eliminated," said the broadcast monitored in Miami.

"Then 16,000 square kilometers (about 4,000,000 acres) of land would be at our disposal.

ARROW ROCK — An impressive group of Missourians has agreed to become honorary patrons of "Steamboat Comin'," a two-hour musical typical of the river boat shows of a generation past, that will be staged May 31 and June 1 at Arrow Rock State Park.

Jay Turley, writer and producer of the musical, said the outdoor show will include afternoon and evening performances on both days, featuring songs popular before 1919, the last year of showboats on the Missouri River. The theme is built around the early-day showboat appearance of the opera star, Melba. She will be represented in the show by Miss Jodanna Rogers of Warrensburg, a senior at Stephens College, Columbia. One of the songs that Melba introduced, "Waltzing Matilda," will be sung by Miss Rogers.

Turley said honorary patrons include Sen. and Mrs. Stuart Symington; Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes, wife of the Missouri governor; Giles Fowler, Dr. Robert Hodge and Judge William H. Becker, Kansas City; Mrs. William R. Gentry, St. Louis; Mrs. Avis Tucker, Warrensburg; Mrs. John Lawrence, Arrow Rock; Lamkin James, Marshall; Mrs. Wert Mitchell, Fayette, and Dr. Andrew C. Minor, Mrs. John C. Weaver, Mrs. John W. Schwada, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn (Esther) Griswold, Mrs. Mary Banks Perry, and Mrs. H. J. Waters III, Columbia.

Turley is staging the show, for which an accoustical shell is being constructed in the state park, as a benefit for the Arrow Rock Lyceum, Friends of Arrow Rock, and a proposed non-profit music camp in Arrow Rock. He is being assisted as musical consultant by Jane Froman, former singing star of television, radio, the movies and the stage.

Majestic Prince Takes Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP)—Majestic Prince, the Kentucky Derby winner, once again blazed home in front of Arts and Letters and then withstood a foul claim Saturday to win the $182,000 Preakness Stakes at Pimlico.

For a time, it appeared that Majestic Prince, riden by Bill Hartack, would be deprived of the victory that moves him into position to become racing's first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948.

No sooner had Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters crossed the finish line than Braulio Baeza, up on Arts and Letters, claimed foul against Hartack and Majestic Prince.

"The winner bothered me badly on the first turn and cost me four or five lengths," Baeza said.

"If anything happened on the first turn, I wasn't aware of it," said Hartack.

The stewards, after a nerve-jangling 25-minute deliberation, overruled the objection, giving Majestic Prince his ninth win in as many starts.

Majestic Prince, fighting off Arts and Letters in a stretch duel similar to the one they staged in the Derby, got home by a head. Arts and Leters was four lengths in front of Jay Ray, who was another four to the good of Top Knight.

Majestic Prince, owned by Frank McMahon, covered the 1 3—16 miles in 1:55 3—5 and returned $3.20, $2.40 and $2.20 as the 3-5 favorite of the record Preakness crowd of 43,259.

Arts and Letters, racing in the Rokeby Stables' silks of Paul Mellon, paid $3 and $2.60 Claiborne Farms' Jay Ray was $4.40 for show.

Following Top Knight, owned by the estate of Steven B. Wilson, were Pelican Stables' Al Hattab, Michael G. Phipps' Greengrass Greene, Elmendorf's Captain Action and Glenn M. Banker's Glad's Flame.

Majestic Prince made his move turning for home and led through the stretch although Arts and Letters made a battle of it. The Rokeby colt was beaten a neck by Majestic Prince in the Kentucky Derby, the first of the Triple Crown races.

The famous series for 3-year-olds concludes June 7 with the grueling 1½-mile Belmont Stakes, and a victory there would make McMahon's powerful chestnut the ninth Triple Crown winner in history.

Trainer Johnny Longden, who handles Majestic Prince, also won a Derby and Preakness as a jockey by scoring with Count Fleet in 1943. Count Fleet went on to win the Triple Crown.

And if Majestic Prince does the same, it would make longden the first Triple Crown winner both as a rider and a trainer.

Bill Hatack, who rode Majestic Prince, said afterward he knew of no foul.

"If anything happened I was completely unaware of it. I don't think anything happened," Hartack said.

The time for the 1 3-16-miles over a fast track was 1 minute, 55 3-5 seconds, well off the track record.

A 60-1 outsider, Greengrass Greene, broke from the No. 8 stall and set the pace through a large part of a mile and then faded as the two big rivals of the Derby staged another thrilling head-to-head battle down the straightaway.

The Kentucky-bred but California-campaigned Majestic Prince and the Virginia-bred Arts and Letters, owned by Paul Mellon, took control at the head of the stretch and battled neck and neck to the wire.

Majestic Prince nipped his challenge by a little more than a head.

Baeza was a last minute substitute rider for Arts and Letters before the Derby after the horse's regular jockey, Bill Shoemaker, had been injured in a paddock accident at Hollywood Park.

Hartack and Baeza were summoned to the projection room to watch films of the race.

Baeza alleged intereference on the first turn where the eight-horse field took the corner in a traffic jam.

The last foul claim against a winner in the Preakness was in 1962, when Green Money won over Ridan. Last year, Dancer's Image was disqualified and placed eighth after finishing third.

Prince Comes In

Pimlico Race Course, Maryland—Majestic Prince, on the rail, drives to the finish line just ahead of Arts and Letters to take the $150,000 added Preakness Stakes Saturday. (UPI)

Records In Danger At Meet

MEXICO — Once again a flock of meet records are in jeopardy in the sixth annual Midwest Classic high school track meet June 9.

The meet, begun in 1963 to spotlight track performances in central Missouri, has grown into the largest in the Midwest. Last year, entries from all over the country set seven new meet records.

If pre-meet marks are any indication, three Classic records have already been broken and two more have been tied by entrants in the present field.

Greg Buys of Kennett, Mo., last week threw the shot 61'7" in the Missouri Class L district championships and seems sure to better the meet standard of 60-6.

Buys' 173'11" mark in the discus is close on the heels of the meet record of 175'9½" set last year by Jim Benien of Tulsa, but Steve Birger of Collinsville, Ill. has hurled the discus 183' already this spring and ranks as the favorite in that event.

Chicago's Jimmy Lee Rogers has recorded a :9.5 in the 100, which is .1 faster than the Classic record. Also within striking distance of the record are Frank Johnson of Kansas City, Kan., and Danny Deweese of Jacksonville, Ill., at :9.8.

Rogers also has posted a :21.0 in the 220, which equals the meet record. Johnson has a 21.6 clocking to his credit and Deweese has recorded a :22.0.

The meet's most recent entry, Robert Mango of Chicago, has been clocked at :48.6 in the 440, tying the meet record set last year. Rich Atha of Faucett, Mo., and Gary Reinhardt of Belleville, Ill., have shots at the record with marks of :50.0.

One record sure to be set is the two-mile standard since the Classic is holding a competition at that distance for the first time.

Baseball Crown In Big Eight Goes to O-State

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State University won the Big Eight Conference baseball title Saturday without playing its final game of the season.

Rain washed out the OSU Cowboys' scheduled game with Kansas State here.

Oklahoma State ended the season with a 17-3 record. The Cowboys' nearest contender for the conference championship was cross-state rival Oklahoma, with a 15-4 record going into a doubleheader with Missouri at Columbia Saturday.

In order to share the title with Oklahoma State, the Sooners would have had to win both games over Missouri, and OSU would have had to lose its game with Kansas State Saturday.

Oklahoma State will meet the Missouri Valley Conference champion next weekend in a best-of-three series to determine which will advance to the national tournament at Omaha.

Promises to Probe Two Owners' Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn promised Saturday an investigation of the stock ties of owners of the Atlanta Braves and Oakland Athletics with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Athletics owner Charles O. Finley acknowledged stock holdings in two firms involving five casinos in Las Vegas.

Three Braves officials, including club president William C. Bartholomay, are listed in government records as directors of one of the firms, Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Bartholomay confirmed stock ownership, but said, "I see no tie-in whatsoever with organized gambling."

"Somebody is making a mountain out of a molehill," said Finley.

Kuhn said, "I'll certainly investigate this, but I can't make further comment until I know all the details."

The Parvin-Dohrmann Co. owns the Fremont, Stardust and Aladdin hotels and casinos.

Three of its seven directors—Bartholomay, Delbert W. Coleman, and John J. Louis Jr.—are also on the Braves' board of directors.

Nevada records list Finley as buying an estimated $2.7 million of stock in Parvin-Dohrmann last month.

Finley said he holds stock also in the Del E. Webb Corp., which he described as "a construction company . . . (which) owns casinos at the Sahara and the Mint at Las Vegas and at Lake Tahoe."

The Athletics owners said, "When Mr. Webb owned the New York Yankees he owned the Sahara himself. My connection is nothing like that. I am not in the gambling business. What I have done is make a long-term investment."

Bartholomay suggested some baseball players also "might have interests in horse race tracks or horses."

The Braves president said, "I don't own a hotel or a casino or a race track. But I own stock in a company that has interest in legal business in the state of Nevada."

Records of the Securities and Exchange Commission list the holdings of Bartholomay and Louis at 2,000 shares each and Coleman at 207,300 shares in Parvin-Dohrmann Co. Nevada records report Finley's purchase at 30,000 shares.

The stock closed at $104.50 a share on the American Stock Exchange Friday after plunging by $33 in three days.

Coleman, who is chairman of the board of Parvin-Dohrmann, announced Thursday he had begun talks on possible acquisition of the firm by National General Corp.

SEC records show Coleman bought about one-fourth of the total Parvin-Dohrmann stock in a $10.5 million takeover last October. According to the records, he then sold part of the stock to Bartholomay and Louis, whom he picked for the board of directors.

In January, SEC records report, Coleman bought the Fremont Casino Corp. for another $300,000. The records show that corporation leases the casinos in the Fremont and Aladdin hotels.

Carpentier and Cox See Action on Mats

Professional wrestling's Flying Frenchman, Eduoardo Carpentier, will be in action at Convention Hall Tuesday night, matching his unusual ring talents against the power attack of K.O. Cox. The stylish European champion, a headliner internationally for more than a decade, is the most talked-of heavyweight in wrestling. His dazzling speed and agility have serveed to confuse one opponent after another.

In Cox, Caprentier will be meeting a brawling 240-pounder who is undefeated in area action. Most recently, Cox forced Tommy Martin out of action, beating that talented young wrestler in a match here.

Arch rivals Ronnie Etchison and Tornado Murdock will collide in the semifinal Tuesday, the veteran Etchison hopeful of a victory that will launch him towards a Central States title role. Murdock, a former champion, is a hardy 265-pounder who has dominated Mo-Kan wrestling the last couple of months.

The Viking returns this week after an extended absence to tackle the mased Medic. The Viking ranks among the area's top brawlers and his use of punishing holds has made him a feared opponent.

Scheduled to meet in the Convention Hall opener are 275-pound Stan Moose and classy Bruce Kirk, a young California pro pointing for ring stardom.

KU Thinclads Overwhelm Big Eight Opponents

AMES, IVOWA (AP) — Kansas three behemoths in the weights and Jim Ryan led the Jayhawks to a record-smashing gavalanche of points Saturday in the 62nd Big Eight Track and Field Championships.

With Karl Salb, Steve Wilhelm and Doug Knop adding a 1-2-3 sweep of the shot put to their similar power display Friday in the discus, and Ryan capturing the half-mile and mile runs, Kansas rolled up a staggering 180½ points to make a face of the team race.

It was a raw day for the middle of may, with the temperature at only 50 degrees, skies heavily overcast and a brisk north wind gusting to 20 miles an hour.

The elements were not condusive to record setting, and none were set. Knop had broken the conference discus record at 192 feet, 8 inches, and Stan Whitley cracked the long jump at 26-1 Friday.

Whitley, who also ran on Kansas' winning 440-yard relay team, was third in the 220 and fourth in both the 100-yard dash and triple jump, won the Henry F. Schulte Memorial award as the meet's outstanding individual. The award is presented annually by the Omara World Herald in memory of the late Nebraska track coach.

Sharing individual honors with Whiteley, Ryun and the KU weight men before a 10-state regional television audience was Missouri sprinter Mel Gray, who won both the 100- and 200-yard dashes.

Kansas' point total, which gave the Jayhawks their third straight outdoor title and 15 in the last 18 years, broke KU's own marks of 173 points set in 1955.

The Jayhawks' margin of 102-½ point over runner up Missouri also was the biggest in conference history. gkansas outscored Oklhoma 154½ to 71 in 1956.

Missouri had 78 points for second with Nebraska third at 69 and Kansas State fourth at 55. In the second division were Oklahoma State with 5½, Colorado, 42, Oklahoma 30 and host Iowa State, 25.

Salb, the 6-foot-3, 288-pound sophomore from Crosset, Ark., who doubles as a defensive tackle in football, threw the shot 60 feet, 2¾ inches and Wilhelm and Knop could not reach 60 feet in one of the meet's top disappointments.

Ryun, nearing the end of his collegiate competition, became the sixth athlete in Big Eight history to win two events in each of is three varsity outdoor seasons. He won the 880 and mile three straight years.

Ryun won the mile Saturday in 4:08.9 as stomach cramps kept him from going all out, he said. He also took the half mile in 1:48.7—both times well off the conference records. He stumbled after about 200 yards in the 880, then made a remarkable comeback to make up a 15-yard deficit to win handily.

Gray, a halfback on Missouri's Gater Bowl champion football team, won the 100 in 9.5 seconds and the 220 in 21 seconds flat. He became the first Missouri sprinter to win an outdoor title since 1947 when Harry Guth took both of the sprints for the Tigers.

Films Will Show Lombardi's Magic

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Vince Lombardi had any deep, dark secrets about his coaching methods, they won't be secrets any more.

A new series of 12 teaching films on the science and art of football, ranging from the power sweep to the defense against the pass, will bring all the tricks of the trade to the college and high school coaches and players. In effect, the idea is to make Lombardi an assistant coach at countless schools.

Lombardi filmed the series last summer while he still was at Green Bay. In fact, it was the only time he actually appeared on the field last year afer handing over the head coaching job to Phil Bengston.

Of course, Lombardi has left Green Bay now and is back in the coaching business as head man at Washington.

A quick preview of some of the films is a revelation to one who thinks he knows something about football. A sequence on the art of pass blocking and the technique of the play pass gives a good insight into Lombardi's emphasis on individual technique.

It is interesting to note the Packer players used as models. None is mentioned by name but they all wear their familiar Packer uniforms.

The quarterback, naturally, is Bart Starr. The running back is Donny Anderson. Other offensive players are Boyd Dowler as wide receiver, Forrest Gregg at tackle, Jerry Kramer at guard and Ken Bowman at center.

On defense the players used are Willie Davis at end, Henry Jordan at tackle, Dave Robinson at linebacker and Herb Adderley as defensive back.

Waching the Packers run the power sweep behind that beautiful blocking is most impressive.

Colts Open And Close With Rams

NEW YORK (AP) — The defending champion Baltimore Colts will open and close the season against the rugged Los Angeles Rams in the 1969 schedule of the National Football League announced Saturday by Art Modell, league president.

It will be the last time around for the NFL in the present format ane the last season as president for Modell whose Cleveland Browns will move to the American Conference with Baltimore and Pittsburgh, joining the 10 AFL teams in 1970.

The 112-game schedule opens Sunday, Sept. 21, the latest start since 1960, because of park conflict with baseball teams resulting from the prolonged major league baseball schedule. The regular season will end Sunday, Dec. 21, followed by the interdivision playoffs, the league title game and the Super Bowl.

The New York Giants return to the Centry Division and the New Orleans Saints move back into the Capitol Division for the final year of the NFL's four-division 16-team alignment.

Beginning in 1970, the NFL will be made up of 26 teams, including the current 16 and the 10 from the AFL. The divisional realignment of the 13 teams remaining in the National Confeence for 1970 is expected to be determined June 2 at a New York meeting.

The Country Club will also be host to five past Missouri state amateur champions, as well as Bob Morrow of Columbia, who won the Van Dyne seniors flight in 1968.

He Sold Good Hotdogs

Some years ago we filed away a classic squib that in these times is apropos for repetition in partial paraphrase:

A man lived by the side of the road.... and sold hot dogs.

He was hard of hearing so he had no radio.
He had trouble with his eyes, so he had no newspaper.
But he sold good hot dogs.

He put up a sign on the highway, telling how good they were.
He stood by the side of the road and cried, "Buy a hot dog, mister."
And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders and he bought a bigger store to take care of his trade.

His son, a disciple of Students for a Democratic Society, came home from college unexpectedly although the old man had been keeping him in funds.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio?
The International situation is terrible, the Domestic situation is even worse, and all the efforts of the Students for a Democratic Society are being repudiated by the college and civil authorities.

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son has been to college. He listens to the radio and reads the papers, so he and his campus friends ought to know the country is going to pot."

So, the father cut down on the bun order, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

His hot dog sales fell almost over night.

"You are right, son," the father said to the boy.
"The country is in a deplorable state. You were wise to leave the college campus where democracy no longer exists. We will close down the hot dog store and go to town where you must try for the first time to get a paying job if there are any available. Thus you can help pay back the tuition I advanced you. Otherwise, I'll have to put in an application for welfare but I don't think both of us can live on that. Good luck, son, you and your dedicated SDS college friends will need it during these terrible times."

Things That Enchant Me

Certain things enchant me,
A baby soft and sweet
Waving his tiny hands
And kicking up his feet;
A little saucy robin,
His head to one side
Puttering about the yard
With his perky stride;
A sunrise in the morning
With a misty haze,
Sunsets in the evening
At the end of summer days;
Stars in the heavens
Shining, Oh, so bright,
Like brilliant diamonds
Against the velvet night;
Flowers in my garden
Wet with drops of dew
From the big peonies
To for-get-me-nots of blue;
Fascinating pebbles
What rare ones we find
With designs and colors
Of most every kind;
Little sparkling streams,
With their golden specks
Catching bits of the sun
It rippling reflects;
Chicks just out of their shells,
A puppy at its play,
A couple in their teens
So in love and gay,
Things that enchant me
In a world of frustrations,
Yet, the things that warm the heart
Are all the Lord's creations.

Critics Forget Fortas' Past Record

—Polaris Missiles vs. ABM—

On May 5 Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson reported that the one substitute for the ABM was more Polaris submarine missiles. They pointed out that this deterrent is probably the most effective defense the United States has.

On May 12 Rear Admiral Levering Smith, in command of Polaris submarines, gave an interview to Jim Ottaway, carried by the Associated Press, substantially confirming the above.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — When a man is down, everyone rushes in to kick him. It is the popular and cowardly thing to do.

So, in the case of Justice Abe Fortas, there has been a bandwagon rush of vituperation, some of it by members of Congress who have taken fees from questionable sources and by an attorney general who still has not given a clear explanation of why he blessed the dismissal of the El Paso Natural Gas Case after the Nixon law firm, of which he and the President are senior partners, received $771,129.83 from El Paso, their long-time clients.

When a man's down, he's down. But I for one do not intend to be part of the Fortas-kicking brigade.

For a man's life should be judged not by one act alone. And mistaken as Fortas was in temporarily taking a fee from Lou Wolfson, I recall some other instances when Abe stood up to be counted at a time when few others stood with him.

There was the case of Dorothy Bailey, the lowly civil service worker in the Department of Commerce who was attacked by the senator from Wisconsin, Joe McCarthy, as a Communist and was not given a chance to face her accusers. It was not a popular case. No one had ever heard of Dorothy Bailey. No one cared very much about her. But an important issue was involved — namely, the right to face those who accuse you.

And Abe Fortas, with his partners, engaged in a long-expensive, time-consuming battle to defend this obscure civil servant. They took no fee and paid for all expenses out of their own pockets. In the end, they won.

It was a vitally important landmark case involving the rights of all Americans. But those who now rush in to kick the prostrate figure of Abe Fortas did not lift a finger to help in those days. In fact, the present President of the United States was one of the enthusiastic applauders of the late senator from Wisconsin and even went to his defense investigation and when the Senate moved toward censure.

—The Lattimore Defense—

There was another instance when Abe Fortas stood up to be counted, when Dr. Owen Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins professor, was singled out by Joe McCarthy as a Communist. Lattimore was an expert on Mongolian and Chinese relations, had been a history teacher of oriental affairs. However, McCarthy, in his desperate determination to find someone connected with the State Department who was a Communist, jumped on Lattimore as hard as the critics are jumping on Fortas today.

Once again the Fortas law firm defended a man unjustly accused, did it with their own money, their own time, and won. It took five years to fight the Lattimore battle. He had been indicted for allegedly perjuring himself about using Laughlin Currie's office ten years before. No other law firm in Washington had the guts to stand up and defend Owen Lattimore against the savagery of the all-powerful Joe McCarthy at that time.

There have been other contributions to mankind in Abe Fortas's life. He did not rise to fame and eminence overnight. There were many years of unnoticed drudgery in the Interior Department under Harold Ickes, defending Indians, reclaiming western land, developing parks, constructing some of the great power projects of the nation.

All this cannot be washed down the drain of man's fickle memory overnight, thanks to one ill-considered fee.

True, Abe lived high on the hog. In his latter years, he bought a big house on R Street from Betsy Burden and had to meet payments on a sizable mortgage. He redecorated the house and build a swimming pool — all of which cost money. And he got involved in a real estate deal which went sour. Interest rates escalated. He had a hard time meeting payments.

This is no excuse. I offer it as no alibi. But the score should be balanced. The past should not be forgotten.

Justice Fortas has not appeared on television and told of his little dog and his wife's cloth coat and the drain on his finances, as did another public figure to explain why he took — and kept — $18,000, which was highly unethical and probably illegal.

Nor did Fortas let his brother secure a $205,000 loan from a defense contractor, as in the case of Don Nixon — a loan, incidentally, which Howard Hughes has now wiped off as a bad debt.

Nor did Fortas operate a famous farm at Gettysburg where three oil men paid the salaries of the farm hands, the farm manager, the cost of feeding the prize Black Angus, all to the tune of around $2,000 a month.

Fortas was wrong. But in tabulating the score of life and politics it should be noted that he did some great things for humanity and that others who are now throwing stones have been wrong on occasion.

—Headlines and Footnotes—

It is interesting to note that President Nixon has not deserted some of his old friends who contributed to his famous $18,000 expense fund when he was a congressman. Listed by the White House as trustees of the "Richard Nixon Foundation" are Herbert Hoover Jr., formerly with Union Oil and a substantial contributor to the Nixon fund; Earl Adams of the Los Angeles law firm of Adams, Duke and Hazeltine; and Jack Drown of the Drown News Agency in Los Angeles ... Republicans who are boosting Otto Otepka for the Subversive Activities Control Board have been citing Clarence Manion, formerly on the White House staff, as raisising money for Otepka. They have forgotten that Eisenhower fired Manion without explanation after it was discovered that information in top secret messages leaked to Sen. Joe McCarthy within hours after they passed over Manion's White House desk ... while rebuffing Sen. Strom Thurmond on school desegregation, President Nixon has appeased the South Carolina Republican by giving him more patronage than any other senator. Latest is Alex McCullough of South Carolina to the Export-Import Bank.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: The Demilitarized Toy. — Sometimes what isn't said matters more than what is stressed.

For example, we have just read the success story of a certain toy manufacturer. It had had a great thing going with a soldier doll a few years ago. Kids loved it — and the rat-a-tat guns and war vehicles the toymaker could unload with it. But then came the start of antiwar sentiment, followed by antigun and antiviolence thinking. Sales plummeted to $6 million.

The trend ahead seemed to be only downward. So the toymaker decided to transform its soldier doll into a spaceman and ocean explorer. It expects sales to pick up again.

Now, we suppose we are expected to think of whatever constructive trend the transformation from little battler to pixie explorer represents. And surely we would agree that deemphasizing violence in the playroom is a good thing.

Yet what isn't said is that the change was made for profit expediency, not for the sake of the youngsters who amplify toys into patterns of life.

We're tired of overdeveloped dollies, TV advertising that incites a youngster to demand two toy cars in his shoebox garage. As the decline in war toy sales shows, the toymakers should realize their market is made up of parents and children — not fools.

The Riverside Take-over--- Militancy in the Absurd

By DAVID POLING

The militant Negroes reached a dead end the recent Sunday they interrupted the morning worship at Riverside Church in New York City. James Forman and six "bodyguards" pushed the ministers aside and took over the altar before a congregation of 1,500 stunned worshipers.

Forman then proceeded to lecture the gathering on his demands for reparations to the black community which included most of the property, assets and programs of this historic church. His main complaint was the action of donor John D. Rockefeller who had "exploited" the Negro community. Riverside Church is adjacent to Harlem and therefore the most vulnerable target.

This entire scene is just one more act in the theater of the absurd being played out by those who have some very valid complaints—which have led to irrational behavior and raging demands.

Of all the churches in New York City—or the United States for that matter—few can equal and none can surpass the thrilling record of Riverside Church. This religious fellowship has been in the front trenches of every social issue to hit the Christian community.

When wars start to rumble and the military rides high, Riverside pulpit has been the first to challenge the assumptions of a warfare society.

When Martin Luther King Jr. traveled north in search of aid and support for the civil rights strategy in the South, Riverside was first with money and manpower.

For decades Riverside has been the staging area for students and seminarians of all faiths who share the same turf of Morningside Heights. When the Poor People's Campaign stumbled along in Washington, again personnel and support flowed from the compassionate heart of a great religious fellowship.

Only the fools or the ignorant would not know that Riverside has been an integrated congregation for decades—maybe 30 or 40 years. So long and so unnecessary to even mark the event! The professional staff has had Negroes and Puerto Ricans as full-time pastors for more than a dozen years. Every aspect of the church life, from youth groups to choirs to official boards, is filled with the racial mix of people from every branch of society. Here the black kids of Harlem play every day in exciting programs of sports and personal growth. Here foreign students learn English and theater groups work on plays, films and pageants. And here is one of the great FM radio stations in the country—WRVR-FM.

The black militants have many complaints—real and imaginary. Riverside Church is not one of them, for this is the congregation that gave serious thought to calling Martin Luther King Jr. as its pastor!

My response to the interruption of morning worship is swift and angry: Throw the intruders out. Freedom of speech and freedom of worship are what this country is all about. When the Klan or the SDS or the Young Nazis or the black militants want to break up these rights for their own brand of society, they have profaned the holy with their insolence.

What this incident should reveal to us is the understanding that black racism is just as ugly as white and we within the Christian community should work overtime to resist both.

(The Reverend Poling is president of the Christian Herald Assn.)

It is a sad thing indeed to watch declarer mangle a slam contract. Of course, if you are defending the hand your sorrow may be tempered with a slight amount of pleasure.

There was nothing wrong with South's two no-trump call and North certainly had a sound slam bid. In fact, North felt that he might be missing seven but North had seen his partner perform on other occasions and decided on a conservative course.

South won the spade lead, looked over dummy carefully and noted that he had 11 top tricks plus opportunities for a 12th in any one of three suits. Then he cashed the rest of the spades to see what would happen. He found out that West had started with five spades and that East could afford a diamond discard.

South cashed three clubs and once more East let a diamond go. Then South tried the hearts. This time it was West who showed out on the third lead. Of course, West discarded a spade. South now had a perfect count. He knew that West had started with two diamonds and still held both of them and that East had started with five and still held three. Clearly the odds favored finding the queen of diamonds in the East hand. South led to dummy's ace, finessed his jack and was two down when West took his diamond queen and the last club.

Do you see where South mangled the hand? He had a sure thing. All he had to do was to throw East in with the last heart. East would have to lead a diamond and it wouldn't matter where the queen was. South would pick it up automatically.

The ball point pen, which has all but replaced the fountain pen in the last 20 years, was first patented in 1888 by John Loud, The World Almanac observes. A second was patented in 1916 by Van Vechten Riesberg, but neither man followed up on the idea and it wasn't until after World War II that the ball point came of jet age.

Democrat Pickups

It was not long before Mother's Day when two little boys, eight and nine years-old, went into a drug store one Saturday evening to buy a cake.

They noticed the Mother's Day cards and started looking at them, then one said to the other: "It would be much better to think of our mother and buy the card than to buy the cake. We can get along without the old cake."

Standing nearby was a woman who overheard the conversation and realized that they wanted the cake but didn't have money enough for both the card and the cake.

She went over to the boys and told them: "If you think that much of your mother then spend your money for the card. I will give you the money for the cake," and she did.

That will be something those boys will remember every Mother's Day as long as they live, maybe not in the next few years, but later when they are grown. It is one of those memory treasures of little boy days that this kind lady gave to them. It will live forever and the woman, too, will remember the conversation and the expressions on the little faces that day. This love of mother and appreciation of her was worth whatever she spent to buy the cake.

Draw Clear Line on Sexual Responsibility

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: As you are not conventional in the conventional sense of the word, please give me your opinion on a problem that's been troubling me. Our daughter will be leaving home next fall for a coed unviersity where a boy friend is now a first-year student. I want to face facts; as you know, today's young people do not regard premarital sexual intercourse as we did. Should I provide Jeanne with contraceptives before she leaves for college?

ANSWER: No. If you want to make available to her information on how to provide herself with them, do so. But with provision of this information is where we parents quit.

We not only quit at making this information available but also undertake to make it clear, that we take no responsibility whatever for the child's use of it. Most lucid do we make it that any decision to engage in premarital sexual intercourse is the sole responsibility of the child.

It's only decent to make this clear. This clarity is only decent because it is not given to us to foresee the consequences, physical or psychological which may result from premarital sexual intercourse. If they are unfortunate ones, it will not be we who bear their burden. It will be the child they burden.

You gave Jeanne "sex information," didn't you? You described "the" sexual act to her, didn't you? Sure you did. And by implication told her that sexual love was interaction between two different kinds of human genitals.

Was this "interaction" all there was to your conception of Jeanne by her father?

So you lied to her. In obedience to not-so-smart psychologists, you reduced the living act of love which begot this child to the "facts" of its physiological gymnastics. So I quite understand how you now want to get yourself off the hook of your inadequate and misleading information. But you'll be a fool to compound one mistake with another. If Jeanne is old enough to engage in sexual intercourse, she is also old enough to be made responsible for all its possible consequences.

Ann Landers

Sloppy Roommate Poses a Problem

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is my roommate. She is the greatest. She is also the sloppiest. When she lived at home her mother was her maid. Here at school, I am.

At the beginning of the semester she used to ask me to fix her bed when she was late for a class. I always did it. Then she began leaving the bed unmade and her clothes all over the place. When I'd get mad and chew her out she'd say, "Be a lamb. I've gotta get this paper in tomorrow." or "I've got a groovey date and I'm late now." Or, "I have a rotten headache." That girl had a million excuses.

Two weeks ago I decided to ignore her side of the room until she cleaned it. Ann, it got so terrible I was ashamed to have anybody in. The orange peels, the half bottles of coke, the cookies, the underwear, sweaters, shoes, cigaret butts, newspapers — it was unbearable. So I cleaned up after her, like I swore I never would.

A month ago I signed up to be her roommate next year because we could stay in the same room and not have the mess of moving. What can I do about this miserable situation? — Wetnurse to A Slob

Dear Wet: Apparently you would prefer to live in a mess nine months out of the year than go to the trouble of moving. You must like the slob so much you figure the mess is worth it. So resign yourself to picking up after her or living in a junk heap because those are your choices.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on two letters which appeared in your column recently. One was signed "Sick of Sex And Hungry For Love." The other was from "Hey You."

At least a prostitute can have a day off. And she can spend her money as she pleases. A wife has no such privileges. Let's face it. Most men need a wife. And sex is only a small part of it. A man needs a wife to prepare his meals, do his laundry, keep the house in order, raise his children, run his errands, pay his bills, entertain his friends and make a social life for him. When a man is sick his wife is his nurse. When a woman is sick she drags herself around and keeps going until she drops. And oh yes — a man needs a woman to talk to when the TV breaks down.

When a wife feels that her husband is using her she has only one weapon. No sex. Let him go elsewhere. She has nothing to lose. There was nothing there to start with. — Woke Up Too Late

Dear Late: Your letter is so full of hostility, and bitterness it causes me to wonder why you remain under the same roof with a man for whom you feel nothing but contempt.

If you haven't tried counseling, with or without your husband, I urge you to do so. You might learn something that will change your life. Your husband obviously turns you off — totally. But is it possible that you turned HIM off — first? I don't know the answer and you probably don't either. But I urge you to try to find it.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

First Bill Introduced By Sen. Tom Eagleton

WASHINGTON — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.) has introduced his first major bill in the Senate, a measure designed to provide financial relief to school districts where public housing is located.

The bill would, by amending the Impacted Areas Law, reimburse local school districts for half the cost of educating each pupil living in public housing.

Senator Eagleton said the bill was designed to:

— Give relief to the already overburdened local taxpayer, who must pay the major portion of the cost of educating the 1.2 million children who live in tax-exempt public housing in the United States.

— Aid the school districts in which public housing is located to provide a good education for all children in their schools, including the ones who need it most — the disadvantaged housing project children.

— Involve the federal government in solving a problem it inadvertently caused through its public housing program — a financial crisis in inner-city school systems, which must educate an increasing number of children with a decreasing amount of local tax revenue.

Twenty other senators were added as co-sponsors when Eagleton introduced the bill. The mayors or school superintendents of 17 of the nation's large cities have endorsed the Eagleton amendment.

"I believe the need for this amendment is clear," Senator Eagleton said in introducing the bill. "I think it is both fair and long overdue."

If enacted, Eagleton said, the bill would provide an estimated 227 million dollars in fiscal 1970 to local school districts. For example, he said, the two largest cities in Missouri, St. Louis and Kansas City, last year would have received 1.8 million dollars and $650,000 respectively. Sedalia, once its public housing program is underway, would also be eligible for school aid under Eagleton's bill.

Chamber Executive Addresses Optimists

Charles Lawrence, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at the State Fair Restaurant.

Lawrence pointed out that for a progressive city nobody can do the job by themselves; working together produces results. There is something for all of us to do, he said.

People often ask: "Why aren't we doing anything?" "Why aren't we getting industry?" "How can our community grow?" Lawrence commented that it is often the people who ask these questions that do not do their share when the opportunity comes. All citizens should be involved in the community, be aware of what is going on, and ready to give it a boost instead of running it down, he said.

Industrial prospects, he said, first look at the general appearance of a town, and the appearance of Sedalia is good. Second they seek the general reaction of the people, and there are three places they usually try to get information about a town — from the people who work in service stations, barber shops and restaurants.

"How do you like living in Sedalia?" they will ask casually, and it is the positive or negative answers that they receive that brings the industry or keeps it away, Lawrence said.

The speaker said that one of the things that impressed the newest industry, the Permaneer Corp. announced last Friday, was the State Fair Community College which, through Dr. Marvin Fielding, offered technical training aids. This was the first place that such aids had been offered.

The Chamber of Commerce, Lawrence explained, is an organ composed of business and professional people who form a mutual bond of civic strength to build a progressive town. The chamber works to make the city a better place to live, he said.

Lawrence was introduced by Chuck Williams, program chairman.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Charles Hendrickson, president. Wray Schroeder gave the invocation.

William L. Hanna, Fayette, was a guest.

Challenge to Debate School Aid Question

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A prominent professor at a theological school in Kansas City has challenged Missouri Lt. Gov. William S. Morris to a debate on state aid for private and parochial schools.

Dr. John M. Swomley Jr., professor of Christian Ethics at St. Paul School of Theology, Methodist, published his challenge in "The Word and Way," a weekly publication of the Missouri Baptist Convention headquarters in Jefferson City.

Dr. Swomley suggested the debate be in Jefferson City within the month — while the Missouri Legislature is in session. He said Kansas City or St. Louis also would be acceptable sites.

The professor based his challenge on a speech Morris made on April 21 to the Kansas City chapter of the Missouri Association for Non-public schools.

Morris argued then that by educating 174,000 or 16 per cent of the children in Missouri the private and parochial schools were in effect subsidizing the state in its obligation to provide an education for every child.

Morris reviewed bills in the legislature for extending various types of state aid to private and parochial schools.

"If the public schools are very sick, the schools of the so-called private sector are dying," the lieutenant governor said.

Morris is a Kansas City attorney and he gives his church affiliation as Protestant. Dr. Swonley is a spokesman for groups advocating separation of church and state.

In his challenge, Dr. Swomley quoted Morris as saying it already is too late to save eight schools in the Kansas City-St. Joseph Roman Catholic diocese. Swonley said this does not square with the facts. He quoted church sources as saying schools were being merged, not closed; and that one closing was not because of financial straits. He referred to Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, in the path of the proposed Midtown Freeway in Kansas City.

Dr. Swomley challenged Morris for describing private and parochial schools as the private sector of public education.

"You did not give any indication of the meaning of public education as being open to all children, as setting no religious or racial test for faculty and administration," Dr. Swomley said.

"Instead, you assumed that religious or racially segregated schools which are private for that purpose are in effect assisting public education."

The professor said Morris cannot prove that parochial schools are dying because the church which created and maintains most of them does not give an accounting of its finances even to its own laymen.

Senator Says Justice Fortas' Resignation is a 'Good Precedent'

WASHINGTON (AP) — He munched a cold hamburger and he jingled his keys and, reflecting on his beginning of AbeFortas' downfall, he decided maybe a hard shake is good for democracy now and again.

It was Robert P. Griffin, a first term member of the U.S. Senate who first took up the fight against confirmation of Fortas as chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Now that Fortas has resigned from the bench, Griffin can manage a sympathetic word for the former justice and voice hope for the future of the court.

"He did restore some of our confidence in the Supreme Court by resigning," says Griffin, "though it was all he could do under the circumstances. It's a good precedent."

While Griffin doesn't claim a single-handed victory blocking Fortas' ascension to chief justice last year, it was the young Michigan senator who provided much of the ammunition in the battle. He disclosed the fact that Fortas was paid $15,000 for lecturing at a summer law school seminar out of $30,000 in donations solicited by a former law patner, Paul A. Porter, from five men with far-flung business and financial interests.

"It's up to the Justice Department now," Griffin says. "He's a private citizens now. I'm not aware of what is in the Justice Department files."

Actually, Griffin did not take a vocal role in the congressional furor over the final controversy that led to Fortas' quitting—revelation that, while on the court, Fortas kept for nearly a year a $20,000 fee from the family foundation of Louis E. Wolfson, a man now serving a prison term for stock manipulation.

"My concern now is in the Supreme Court and how it weathers the storm," he says.

"There are those who believe the court has been seriously damaged, but this is not necessarily true. I believe that from this episode a great deal of encouragement can be taken—that our system does work, the checks and balances. This illustrates that it works.

"You don't have to burn down buildings to make changes. Do it within the system."

Democracy, muses Griffin, may sometimes need to falter in order to survive.

"I don't advocate that, but it's probably true.

"So many areas of society have organizations which have been in existence a long time and which have people in authority who do their jobs in a perfunctory manner, lacking a sense of mission. It takes," he concludes, "something like this to show them what kind of responsibilities they have."

What about the successor to Fortas? Might there be a strong reaction in the Senate when the body is called to advise and consent?

First Griffin hedges the questions: "I think the Senate will take it's responsibilities seriously." Then he adds, "You know, we even require Cabinet members to divest themselves of funds, and the requirements on the Supreme Court have just got to be more important than for a cabinet member who serves a short time or even for a congressmen who must face re-election. The court is for life."

Griffin says he doesn't mean to "take on the Supreme Cout in a general way.

"I haven't and I won't do that. I agree with most decisions of the Supreme Court."

Pupils Present Music Festival

Sacred Heart grade school pupils presented a music festival of songs learned throughout the year for their parents and guests Wednesday afternoon in the school gymnasium.

Highlighting the program was a medley of folk songs played by a guitar quintet composed of Katie McKenny, Mary Bellmer, Karen Stone, Julie Bazin, and Jack Beaudette. They were directed by Sister Gretchen Van Thiel.

The entire school opened the festival singing "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by Gertrude Hambright and Karen Lisenbardt on auto-harp; David Rayl, piano, and Anthony Schneider, drums. An all-school rendering of "God Bless America" closed the program.

Directing the individual grades were Sister Gretchen Van Thiel, Sister Laura Will, and Sister Paul Mary Will. Accompanists for various numbers were Sister Paul Mary Will, Mrs. Don Fischer, Mrs. Gary Cooper, and Julie Bazin.

Human Mind Can't Take Too Much of Reality

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What an awful world today would be if we had to live in it always.

Fortunately, we don't. For the human mind isn't built to spend much time in the actual present —in the reality of now.

It has two escape hatches, daydreams and memories.

Our daydreams are sugared hopes for a happier tomorrow, our memories are bittersweet monuments of what has happened to us in the past. And we need both daydreams and memories to keep from becoming prisoners of today's hard hours.

Your own gallery of memories is pretty crowded if you can look back and remember when:

Life was so innocent that if a stranger smiled and spoke to you, you didn't immediately wonder what he was trying to get from you.

It was hard to drive your car 10 miles in any direction from any town on a rainy day without running the risk of sinking up to hubcaps in mud.

Having a backyard vegetable garden wasn't a hobby in a large family—it was a practical necessity.

The only times of the year most people stayed up until midnight was on New Year's Eve and when someone was ill.

Folks grumbled that the high cost of living was getting out of hand when the classiest restaurant in town added a hatcheck girl to its staff and you had to leave her a dime tip.

Mother explained when she sent you to the bakery to buy day-old bread that it was not only cheaper but it had a firmer crust that was healthier for your gums.

More men chewed tobacco than girls chewed gum.

A doctor didn't necessarily need a good bedside manner when he made a house call, but it was expected that he'd pause long enough for a friendly cup of coffee in the kitchen on the way back out to his waiting horse and buggy.

The chief sources of air pollution in America were visitors who insisted on lighting up nickel cigars in the parlor.

A farmer's chief recreation on Saturdays consisted of driving to the county courthouse and see who was being tried for stealing what.

Conscientious mothers always tore out the ladies' underwear pictures in the mail order catalog so their sons wouldn't start wondering about sex too young.

A juvenile delinquent was a kid who pulled the pigtails of the girl who sat in the classroom seat in front of him—and caused her to cry.

If you asked a bartender to mix you a vodka Martini, he'd blink and say, "A what?"

Most big league ball players, when their careers ended, went back to farming.

To borrow money from a bank you first had to have something worth mortgaging.

Those were the days! Remember?

Chilled Artichokes—Something Special for Patio Parties

Ask Them Yourself

FOR SEN. HENRY JACKSON of Washington

Just what can be done about protecting our scenic public lands?—Mrs. Clarence Horvath, Seattle, Wash.

● Laws now are in effect regarding air and water pollution, and there is proposed legislation to control surface mining and to reclaim surface-mined lands. Private citizens can form groups to obtain facts, make specific proposals to either their Senators or Congressmen, or act on a state or local level. Direct dealing with the threatened despoilers of an area sometimes brings results. Best of all is an alert, interested, and informed public which will present specific facts and recommendations to legislators.

FOR DR. EDMUND KLEIN,
dermatologist

Is there any known cure for a skin disease called dermatitis herpetiformis?—John G. Sarver, Oak Hill, W. Va.

● No, but there are drugs available that partially or completely control it—treatment with sulfanomides, particularly sulfa pyridine and sulfones. Both drugs, which must be given daily, can produce side effects. Discontinuation of either results in rapid return of the disease.

FOR HELEN ROSE,
Oscar-winning designer

I know you designed Grace Kelly's wedding dress. Where is it?—Jane Ruvidich, New York, N.Y.

● It is on display in the Philadelphia Museum, and I am told it attracts more attention than any other display.

FOR BILLY GRAHAM

You once said that you were going to try to reach teen-agers instead of adults. Why did you say this?—Sandy Pauly, Wasco, Calif.

● This is not really correct. I have intimated that I have more hope for the young than for the elder people. Statistics show that the young respond to the challenge of Christ and the appeal of the gospel more than those who are older. I am also aware that the older generation is not passing on to youth a good moral and spiritual image of our present-day culture and achievements. Thus, I am more hopeful for the youth who are determined to build a better world.

FOR WILLIAM GUTTENBERG,
president, Bogue Electric Mfg. Co., Paterson, N.J.

When do you think America will have an electric car available at a competitive price?—N. D., Lancaster, Pa.

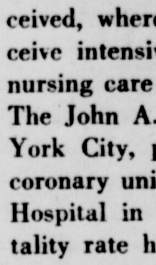
● Electric vehicles will be fairly prevalent on the streets by 1972—mostly small delivery vehicles for stores and services and "plaything" type cars. Discovery of a new lightweight, economical power source (battery) could change all this.

FOR DR. HUGHES DAY,
Bethany Hospital, Kansas City, Kansas

Just how and when did you originate the first intensive coronary-care unit?—Mrs. Frances Fenton, Columbia, Mo.

● In 1961 a coronary-care unit was conceived, where cardiac patients could receive intensive and special medical and nursing care using electronic techniques. The John A. Hartford Foundation, New York City, provided funds for the first coronary unit. It was opened at Bethany Hospital in 1962. As a result, the mortality rate has dropped.

FOR MONTY HALL
of ABC's "Let's Make a Deal"



Is the money shown on your program real?—Christine Lyszezale, Trenton, N.J.

● The money is real, and it is also well guarded always by an armed guard.

FOR JACK MARKS,
director, Portland, Ore., zoo

You have had seven elephants born in your zoo. Is there a great demand for zoo-born baby elephants?—Mrs. Laura Hill, Humboldt, Sask., Canada

● If one wanted to sell a new-born elephant, the market is there, but we do not separate mother and baby until the mother indicates she wishes to wean the calf. There always seems to be a market for elephant calves, whether zoo-born or imported.

FOR PEGGY LIPTON
of "The Mod Squad"

Why did you become a vegetarian?—Diane Kastner, Rochester, N.Y.

● After I eliminated meat, I found I felt physically and mentally better.

WHAT IN THE WORLD!

Half-Baked Man Capt. Grant D. Callin, a research physicist at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, has a job that runs hot and cold. For 16 years he has personally tested what temperatures the human body can withstand. From these tests have come new developments in Arctic gear and jet-pilot pressure suits. He has undergone tests as low as minus 80F. and as high as 406F. Once his backside was subjected to intense cold, his frontside intense heat—his body compensated so that he felt perfectly comfortable. Oh, yes, technicians occasionally bake cookies while he is "working" in the research oven.

Beauty Is Pocketbook Deep American men and women spend $5 billion a year on beauty aids, according to Drug Trade News, from $217 million on lipsticks to $1.5 billion on oral-hygiene products and shaving gear. What does $5 billion mean? Well, in 1966 the Office of Economic Opportunity spent less than $1.5 billion; Housing and Urban Development, about $772 million.

Merry Moving Month May is one of the more popular months to move. By now, most of the uprooted are still unpacking, trying to settle in—and worrying about the possible ill effects of relocation on their families. The Menninger Foundation's eight-year study finds adults resilient—but unhappy at first about new surroundings. While children make new friends more readily than adults, they tend to miss the old neighborhood with its familiar surroundings. A good way to help children adjust is to let them participate in moving chores and not just "keep them out of the way."

Church of the Future? With church building at a new low, an "air cathedral" may be the answer, at least temporarily. The Firestone people have made a 60x200 foot inflatable "church" of nylon-reinforced vinyl, complete with gold-and-white plastic "stained glass windows." Weighing 17,000 pounds, it takes three pieces of equipment to inflate it. The cathedral boasts an airlock revolving door, which will admit 3,500 people—all of whom no doubt want to sit in the back.

Walk-on Part John Beradino, who gave up baseball (highly paid former second baseman for the Cleveland Indians) for acting (Dr. Steve Hardy in ABC-tv's "General Hospital"), still likes to talk baseball. "They didn't have Little League when I was a kid. Today, with so few playgrounds, it's the only way most boys can get to play. But why don't more Little Leaguers go up to the majors? Because they are not taught. There are too many base on balls—they don't get any hits!" So what? They don't in the majors, either.

John Beradino

We Cruised America by Houseboat

This family learned that inland waterways are among our most beautiful highways—almost traffic-free and leading to new worlds of discovery

By JAMES NATHAN MILLER

LAST AUGUST my wife and I were traveling through the lovely dairy country of southern Vermont, I at the wheel and she looking at the scenery, when suddenly she exclaimed, "Look at that magnificent old elm."

"Where?"

"Over there," she said, "to starboard."

"Over there to starboard? What kind of nonsense is that in the landlocked state of Vermont?"

It's not so landlocked, though; in fact, we were just then in the process of floating past its west coast in a boat on our way from New York to Canada. Our highway was a twisting stretch of one of the country's least-appreciated road systems: the inland waterways.

While we Americans tour the motor highways by the tens of millions every summer, only a relative handful of us know that the United States possesses a network of rivers and canals, whose wonderful beauty is unsurpassed and whose extent is unmatched by any other waterway system in the world.

Though it is actually a commercial system, built and maintained for barges and tankers, anyone with a boat can use it. And, thanks to a new kind of cruising vehicle, the houseboat, the trip can now be made in the kind of comfort that's usually associated with renting a cottage by a lake.

Ten years ago a houseboat was essentially nothing more than a house with a buoyant basement with which one tied it to a dock. But in the early 1960s a group of smart boat builders began to redesign the craft, and today the house part sits on a ruggedly designed hull of steel, aluminum, or fiber glass that's often seaworthy enough for ocean trips and fast enough to tow water skiers.

Basically, though, it's not an ocean boat; the houseboat is to the conventional cruiser what the station wagon is to the sports car, and for ocean-going and fishing you can't beat the cruiser. It is in the inland waterways that the houseboat has no peers. The reason is this:

By sacrificing the conventional cruiser's racy lines and its open sitting area astern, designers have crammed two to three times as much living space into a given length of hull. They've widened the hull a few feet and used almost its entire length as a platform for an honest-to-goodness, square-shaped house—equipped with such blatantly houselike appurtenances as screen doors, picture windows, stall showers, and "queen-sized" studio beds.

The result is that many of the craft look, inside and out, as if they'd been ripped loose from a Holiday Inn. The house illusion is so strong that one night a departing guest on our boat opened the front door, turned to wave good-by to us, and walked into the river!

A scene I saw through the picture window of a 32-foot houseboat at a marina one rainy day last summer sums up the transformation. Spread out on the wall-to-wall carpeting of the living-room floor at the bow were three children playing a game, and down three steps behind them in the kitchenette amidships was their mother, cooking on a gas stove. I didn't see the father, but I like to think he was asleep in one of the beds farther aft.

Houseboat sales and rentals are now the fastest-growing segment of the booming pleasure-boat industry, and it will soon be as easy to rent a houseboat as a car. My boat, for instance, came from a national service called Rent-A-Cruise of America (Florence, Ala.) that works much like Hertz or Avis. It has about 500 boats at more than 800 locations around the country. The company provides everything you need, from charts to linens and kitchenware, so that all you have to bring aboard is your clothes.

We could have gone to a local boatyard or marina, many of which keep a few houseboats strictly for rental purposes. In fact, these places are multiplying so rapidly all over the country that Family Houseboating magazine, which tries to keep track of them, has to publish a new list every six months or so.

In terms of person-per-day costs, a rented-houseboat vacation isn't as expensive as you might think. My 32-footer cost $325 a week (or slightly less in certain areas of the South, where the season is longer). If you fill up all a boat's beds and eat all your meals aboard, it will cost about the same per person as a sleeping-in-motels and eating-in-restaurants car trip.

Having rented the boat, the next problem was, where to go? The choices are many. From my home town of Croton-on-Hudson, N.Y., if you sail upstream to just past Albany, you will come to a sign at a branch in the river. One arrow points to the left: "Erie Canal, Syracuse, and Buffalo. Speed Limit 10 mph." Take this fork and you will wind up on Lake Erie. From there you can continue on to Chicago, and via the Illinois River to the Mississippi. Then you can travel for 12,000 miles on a vast system of locks and channels from Minneapolis, Minn., to Brownsville, Texas—all without stepping on dry land once.

But instead, my wife and I took the right fork that led by canal, river, and Lake Champlain to the St. Lawrence—from which additional endless mazes of Canadian waterways were available to us. So huge is the whole interlocking system—more than 30,000 miles—that if we were to spend the rest of our summers cruising it we would never have to pass the same point twice.

Once waterborne, we quickly discovered what is probably the most compelling single fact about waterway touring: for long stretches, the America one sees tends, even today, to be an America untouched by the 20th century. For our civilization has developed mainly along the highways and railroads and has left the riversides to the farmer and the rich man's great mansion.

It's true that we sailed through some hideously discolored water reeking of pollution and that sections of the shore line matched in industrial ugliness anything along the roads. But for hour after hour on the Hudson, we sailed past the old Dutch patroon country with stately châteaux presiding over baronial river views; past long, narrow stretches where the river is more like a creek and its banks are hidden by marshes full of red-wing blackbirds; past miles of rolling cow pastures with weathered-red barns and white silos.

The pace of river life, too, seems a throwback to a past century. Cruising at eight miles per hour (some boats cruise at more than 30 mph), we didn't gauge our progress in terms of miles per day but rather in hours traveled, scenery seen, sun bathed in, or fish caught.

Often the scenery was so overpowering that we slowed to little more than a drift, and once a dog who had a stick he wanted us to throw for him followed us along the side of a canal for 20 minutes before turning back.

Even the volume of traffic was about what it must have been in the pre-20th century. In fact, one of the best things about river sailing is how few people seem to know about it. For while boating is a fast-growing industry, most of the sailing is concentrated around a few high-density points, and on the long reaches of river between cities we often found ourselves alone. The magnificent Champlain canal system in upstate New York, as beautiful a waterway as can be found and one that's close to the country's densest population area, is traversed by only about 2,000 pleasure boats in a year. Often on this canal, we were the only boat in a lock.

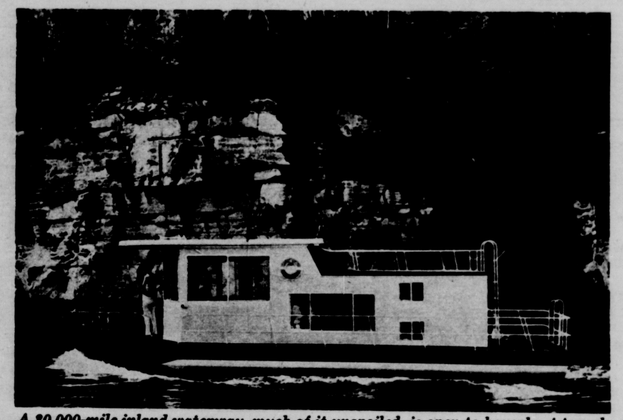
Which brings us to a fly in the ointment of this idyllic life that you should know about: the process known as "locking through," which on some waterways can be required every few miles as the canal goes up or down a hill. Locking through can be a pleasant break in the routine, but the procedure is miserable if you get mixed up with commercial traffic, for pleasure boats on the inland waterways are at the bottom of every lock-keeper's priority list. Freight goes first, as we discovered one day when we waited two hours for three turtle-slow petroleum and pulp-paper barges to go through, even though we had arrived first.

But mostly the life of the waterway tourist is lovely. Can any landlubber just walk in off the street and rent a boat to enjoy it? Legally, yes. To pilot a boat of up to 65 feet, there is no age requirement, no driver's test, no license. When I left the dock with my new command, I had never before sailed a powerboat, and my total training consisted of a half-hour cruise around the bay under the tutelage of the man who had rented it to me.

But I called the head of the local Coast Guard Auxiliary squadron and asked him how a landlubber like me could prepare for a houseboat trip. He told me about the free boat-handling courses offered every spring by the Coast Guard Auxiliary and the U.S. Power Squadron.

I was already too late for that, but I was told about a book called "Piloting, Seamanship and Small Boat Handling" by Charles F. Chapman (Motor Boating Pub. Co.). This wonderful bible of the small-boat handler told me everything I needed to know, from how to make fast to a dock to what flag to fly when the Secretary of State comes aboard.

Learning chart reading and the meanings of various buoys was a matter of a couple of evenings' study. (By memorizing the phrase "red-right-returning"—always keep red buoys on the right when going upstream—I had it half-made.) The important rules of the road are few and easy—the main one being to pass to the right of approaching boats, just as in a car. Things like how to get the anchor to grab bottom and what kind of weather to be leery of turned out to be mainly matters of common sense.



A 30,000-mile inland waterway, much of it unspoiled, is open to houseboat travel.

There is no dearth, we found, of marinas where, for a charge of 10 or 15 cents per-foot of boat length, we could tie up for the night. Some are little more than a gas tank, water hose, and an electricity supply that blows its fuse as soon as more than a couple of boats plug in. Others are elaborate, with swimming pools, bars, restaurants, showers, and even coin laundries.

But in a houseboat you don't have to depend on marinas, for you carry most of their facilities with you and you can anchor wherever you want for the night. (The waterways are all government-owned, so no one will tell you you're on private property.) For instance, one evening we tied up to a tree in a lovely deserted cove on Lake Champlain, miles from the nearest marina, with our bow in the woods and our roof-sundeck commanding a sweeping view of the Green Mountains. We had fresh-caught perch for dinner, and after dinner we sat on the sundeck and watched the stars come out.

And that is what we found best about this business of floating across the landscape in a houseboat: You do it in your own way, at your own pace, unhurried and unpressured. Whether you choose the staying-at-marinas way or the tying-to-a-tree way, whether you prefer to catch fish or watch birds, whether you like champagne for breakfast or ham and eggs, if my experience is any guide you'll find that there is no vacation like it on land or on sea. ◆

The Shirtdress Revival

By ROSALYN ABREVAYA

A crisp, cool, classic shirtdress is fashioned by Russ in Avril-cotton. $9. Sandals are Grasshoppers

WITH the popularity that blouses and shirt tops have enjoyed recently, it's no wonder designers are beginning to elaborate on a good theme; they've simply elongated the shirt into a dress! It's a revival, of course. But today's shirtdress looks very contemporary in crisp fabrics fashioned into high-necked ruffle fronts, easy open-at-the-throat designs, even a shirtdress that divides into pants. The over-all effect is to render the female soft and pretty, rescuing her from recent primeval fashions that have been spinning off so many drawing boards. ◆

Aileen divides a packable cotton-knit shirtdress into pants! $20. Bag by Dofan; sunglasses, Riviera.

Photographed on the S. S. United States by Hal Okun

At the helm is an eye-catching duo: ruffled rayon-linen dress retails for $9. Windowpane-check in polyester cotton is $10. Both from Ship'n Shore.

Coiffures: Martin Downey for Helene Curtis Nature Blend Hairpieces; Jewelry: Maison de Fou

A nickel's worth of Sno-Bol sanitizes, deodorizes and removes rust stains from your you-know-what.

General purpose cleaners are fine for most jobs. But not for cleaning toilet bowls. They don't deodorize, sanitize, and remove rust stains like Sno-Bol.

Liquid Sno-Bol cleans in seconds while it deodorizes and sanitizes. It's faster and more efficient than any dry bowl cleaner. You can pour Sno-Bol full strength to remove rust stains and calcium deposits. And it works better and costs less than other leading bowl cleaners.

BETH BRICKELL:

Her Big Love Affair with Money

The tv series "Gentle Ben" has been cancelled—but no matter to this self-sufficient beauty who has always had a way of finding extra dollars

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

Beth Brickell doesn't mind losing her tv show—just not working with Dennis Weaver, young Clint Howard, and Gentle Ben.

A CONTRACT cancellation is just a passing incident in the life of Beth Brickell. She isn't turned off one bit knowing that her tv show is scheduled to run only to mid-June of this year.

"I really feel I have expressed everything I can in the part, to say the least," said the All-American wife of the "Gentle Ben" series. "There just isn't much depth to my role."

The contract was for the customary five years, and even though "Gentle Ben" consistently earned high ratings Beth wasn't really satisfied after two seasons. But she added, "I've enjoyed doing the show, and I adore Dennis Weaver (her All-American tv husband), and Clint Howard (her All-American tv son.)"

When I talked with this novice actress, I felt a tingle of apprehension that such a fragile-looking young woman could be so practical and business-minded. "I guess you could say my hobby is making a little bit of money with any kind of side line," Beth told me. "All my life I've been busy with one kind of money-making scheme or another."

Whether you want to blame it on her solid ancestors, who date back to the American Revolution, or to the fact that her parents were not very well off, the value of money always has been a constant "thing" with the self-sufficient actress.

When she was five, she sold lemonade; at six she mowed lawns and sold magazines; at seven she collected used clothes hangers, then sold them to dry cleaners; at eight she sold all-occasion greeting cards. Having to part with any of her earnings always was the biggest disappointment of Beth's young life. She learned early that she had to have a source of income—and then some.

Never satisfied with her job and always looking for a new or another challenge, Beth moved to New York City about three years ago to become an actress. "I needed something that seemed inconceivable, impossible," she says. She first studied with Sandy Meisner and then with Lee Strasberg, noted teachers of acting.

"Being practical," Beth explained further, "I decided that it was very important for an actor to have a steady income, independent from an acting career. So I went into the furniture business—I was sales manager, truckman, and installer."

Beth also decided to add to her income by subletting apartments. All of her business ventures paid off except one—a tv coffee commercial. Her distaste for the "black stuff" kept reflecting itself in her facial expressions, so the agency could not use it. "So all I got was a day's pay," she says. "I lost out on all those lovely residual payments."

Beth might have become a business tycoon if "being a very fine actress was not the biggest challenge I could find," she says. The business left no time to pursue an acting career so she gave up most of her business involvements.

As for marriage, Beth says, "I am not ready for it—maybe because I didn't want to get involved. I've been involved, and I got hurt.

"Nowadays I will date anybody who isn't married. This way I depend only on myself. I have this built-in mechanism that makes me want to protect myself, have something to fall back on. That's why I want to be successful as an actress."

Beth seemed compelled to add, "I guess people would say it is unorthodox to be happy in my situation. But the awful part is—I am! Most of my college friends are married and have children, but they no longer have dreams. I think there is a lot to be said for marriage, but I feel I owe it to myself to try whatever it takes to overcome this insecurity first."

But she does concede one type of man interests her—one as obsessed with money and success as she. ◆

Beth looks forward to roles which are more demanding than in "Gentle Ben."

Have you any idea what it means to fall in love with a King-Size man?

(confessions of a big man's wife)

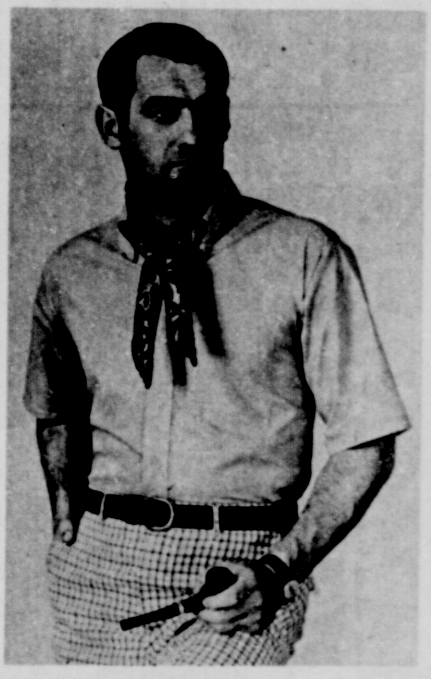
It means kingsize beds. It means aisle seats at the movies. It means running when he's walking. It means holding my breath while he tries on his new jacket.

For the clothes he wore never seemed to fit him correctly. I'd almost cry to see my handsome man in skimpy shirts or slacks, or a jacket that looked two sizes too small. Nothing he wore was designed or proportioned right for a man his size.

I thought that by shopping for him myself I could change all that. In our town there are many good men's stores. I shopped in each of them. But any shirt or slacks or jacket I chose, it was always the same answer, "Sorry, M'am, we don't have it in that size!"

Then one day a friend showed me the new KING-SIZE Catalog. It was a revelation! I could see these people were BIG MEN Specialists. They understood. For here was 120 pages crammed with smart, stylish clothing and shoes...sweaters, slacks and jackets...all specially designed for TALL and BIG men! Necks to 22"...sleeves to 38"...inseams up to 42"...sizes to XXXL! And the finest brands—McGregor, Arrow, Manhattan, Jantzen, Weldon. 200 shoe styles in sizes from 10 to 16, widths AAA to EEE...including DuPont Corfam, Hush Puppies, Bates Floaters and others.

Best of all, this beautiful full-color KING-SIZE Catalog doesn't cost a penny. And every item carries the famous KING-SIZE Money-Back Guarantee, "You must be completely satisfied both BEFORE and AFTER wearing, or you get an immediate refund or exchange". Could anything be fairer?



If your husband (son, brother, boyfriend) has the same kind of King-Size problem, you can solve it the same way I did. Just sit down and write for the FREE KING-SIZE Catalog. When it comes, you and your TALL and BIG man will discover how much FUN buying the right clothes for your KING-SIZE man can be.

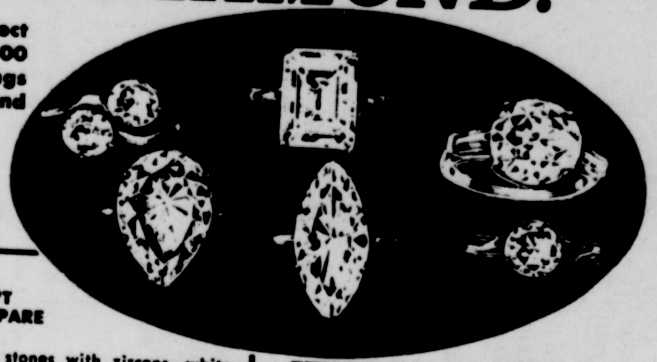
THIS DIAMOND IS NOT A DIAMOND!

Imagine paying under $100 for a perfect two-carat diamond ring . . . under $100 for fabulous one-carat diamond earrings . . . under $60 for a full carat diamond tie-tac!



Now, for less than one twentieth of what you would pay for a genuine diamond, you can purchase a man-made stone so perfect even an expert using a powerful magnifying glass can't tell it from the real thing for sure without actually subjecting it to scientific testing! These magnificent stones are called Diagems. They are identical to diamonds in every respect except one!

THE ONLY DIFFERENCE

Genuine diamonds are produced from carbon under tremendous heat and pressure. So are Diagems! Diamonds have a cubic molecular structure. So do Diagems! Diamonds have a fire and brilliance measured on the refractory scale as 2.4. So do Diagems! Diamonds are cut by expert diamond cutters. So are Diagems! The difference is simply this . . . A diamond, which is the hardest substance in the world, is harder than a Diagem. A Diagem is almost as hard as an emerald, but it isn't as hard as a diamond. This is the only basic difference and that difference is of no practical consequence.

Just as the cultured pearl can't be told from the genuine pearl, so the Diagem can't be told from the diamond!

More people — especially among the wealthy — are wearing Diagems than you would begin to suspect, but they're not telling, and unless they do, there is no way you could possibly know.

DON'T COMPARE

these stones with zircons, white sapphires, paste or any of the "synthetic diamonds" you may have seen, heard or read about. Diagems are different! The product of years of research and development, they are virtually identical to and indistinguishable from genuine diamonds in every important respect . . . Same basic cubic molecular structure, same light refractive index (2.4), same clarity and brilliance! Like a diamond, Diagems, too are forever.

WHY NOT YOU?

Diagems cost only a fraction of what diamonds cost, yet they are just as beautiful and often more so. They pose no expensive insurance problems. No one can tell them from the real thing for sure without subjecting them to a hardness test.

FREE EXAMINATION OFFER

Now, for the first time, Diagems are being offered by mail! When your Diagem arrives, look it over for 10 full days at our risk. Have it examined by whomever you like. If you are not completely satisfied in every way, return for an immediate refund, no questions asked! Your friends must be convinced you are wearing a magnificent genuine diamond, or you pay nothing!

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

When your Diagem arrives, examine it for 10 days at our risk. If you aren't convinced it is everything we claim, simply return for full and immediate refund, no questions asked!

NOW! Run Your Car Without Spark Plugs

THE IMPORTANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ORDINARY SPARK PLUGS AND JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Your car's power comes from tiny explosions of gasoline vapor and air in your cylinders. The bigger the explosions, the faster you go.

SPARK PLUGS
NARROW SPARK

CONVENTIONAL PLUGS explode this mixture with a spark jumping across an air gap. The spark is just 35-thousandths of an inch across — not wide enough to explode all the fuel in the cylinder. Unburned gas escapes through your exhaust. In time, the electrodes become eroded and caked with carbon. The gap widens, the spark gets narrower, you lose more power, waste more fuel . . . and finally have to replace your plugs.

JET-FIRE
FUEL IGNITER
WIDE SWATH OF FLAME

JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS use no sparks. Instead a fanning swath of flame walks across a semi-conductor bridge from one electrode to another, exploding far more fuel, getting far more power. There is no gap that can widen, and carbon deposits actually improve performance. They do not have to be adjusted or replaced—ever!

ALSO AVAILABLE FOR BOATS, TRACTORS, TRUCKS, MOTORCYCLES AND FOREIGN CARS!

NEW JET-FIRE FUEL IGNITERS

Will deliver up to 30 more horsepower, 5 more miles per gallon using only regular gas!

THEY NEVER WEAR OUT

Pat. No. 2899589

- get up to 5 more miles per gallon of gas
- add up to 30 more horsepower to your engine
- save $100 each year for you, year after year while you use the cheapest grades of gasoline!

YOU'LL NEVER CLEAN, ADJUST OR REPLACE PLUGS AGAIN!

Save $100 a Year With Jet-Fuel Igniters!

If you drive 15,000 miles, you can easily save:

- $50 by switching to regular gas.
- $40 on your better mileage.
- $10 by not replacing plugs.

You are protected by this

4-WAY GUARANTEE

1. GUARANTEED for the life of your car (or 30,000 miles) without cleaning, servicing or replacing.
2. GUARANTEED to increase miles/per/gallon of gas on regular gas!
3. GUARANTEED to increase horsepower, increase engine RPMs!
4. GUARANTEED to improve ease of starting and acceleration!

Spark plugs are obsolete! Now there's a far better way to run your car.

With conventional spark plugs, only a fraction of the fuel that enters your cylinders is turned into power. The rest escapes through your tailpipe as unburned vapor. That is because their spark is so narrow—only 35-thousandths of an inch wide—that it cannot possibly ignite all the fuel mixture in the cylinder. As plugs get older, their sparks get narrower and less efficient till they have to be replaced.

New Jet-Fuel Igniters do a far better job of turning gasoline into power. Instead of a narrow spark, they send out a wide swath of flame that "walks" across a semi-conductor tip, fanning out in all directions and exploding far more fuel in the cylinder.

Proof That You Get Up To 30 Horsepower More

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters look like spark plugs merely because they have to be screwed into the spark plug socket. But what they do is far different. Here's how to prove it:

1. Run your car till it's fully warmed up.
2. Stop on a perfectly level stretch of road.
3. Put the car in Drive (1st gear with manual transmission), and see how fast the car rolls at idling speed.
4. Remove plugs and install Jet-Fuel Igniters (a 10-minute job).
5. Now see how fast your car rolls at idling speed. You can expect it to go 4 TO 6 MILES PER HOUR FASTER without touching the gas pedal — dramatic proof that Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters increase engine RPMs by 100 to 150 with no increase in gas consumption. (At high speeds, RPMs increase by 300 to 350.)

So, first thing, you can reduce the gas flow by adjusting the idling screw, and start saving money before you've even driven a mile!

(At the same time, you can make your air-to-gas mixture leaner. Fuel Igniters require only a 15:1 ratio instead of the conventional 9:1. It's a simple adjustment that you or your mechanic can make in one minute. It provides even greater economy.)

Start driving and you'll notice even more improvement—up to 30 more horsepower of acceleration power, climbing power, and passing power. All this while burning less gas!

SWITCH TO REGULAR

The next time your gas gauge gets near the "Empty" mark, tell the attendant to fill it up with REGULAR! Chances are you'll no longer need premium which costs four to eight cents more than regular gas.

And this second saving is only the beginning. Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters provide easier cold-weather starts . . . and that means less drain on your battery, and no drain on your patience as you try to get started.

NO REPLACING OR ADJUSTING EVER

The more you drive, the better your Fuel Igniters perform. They don't become eroded, wear out or require adjusting. And carbon build-up—the natural enemy of old fashioned plugs—actually makes fuel igniters perform better. Carbon becomes an additional carrier for the igniter's big jet flame.

So there you have a third saving. One set of fuel igniters will last the life of your car!

Invented To Save Air Force Lives—
Now They Can Save You Money

Jet-Fire Fuel Igniters were first developed to save airmen's lives. During World War II, there were times when more men were killed by spark plug malfunction than by enemy action. A failure-proof replacement was needed, and Fuel Igniters did the job. Both the Navy and Air Force have approved them for jet engine use.

Now at last they have been modified for automobile use. They won't save your life, but they can save you big money—up to $100 a year with ordinary driving.

Some day, all cars may come equipped with Fuel Igniters like these. But why wait when you can install a set yourself now. Just mail the coupon with the make and model of your car, and we'll rush you a set with full instructions. Just $12.80 per set of 8, $9.60 per set of 6, $6.40 per set of 4.

PIN-WORMS
A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, loss of sleep and a tormenting itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Will EARTHQUAKES

By BOB GAINES

IN GEOLOGY laboratories throughout California, engineers, geophysicists, and seismologists are calmly working out a scenario for the next big quake to hit the state. It could well happen like this:

A quiet, warm day, perhaps sometime in the late spring or summer of this year. Suddenly, up and down the state, family dogs come to their feet, ears alert. They whimper nervously, already catching an almost inaudible rumble in the ground. The rumble gets louder, houses begin to shake. Pipes and electric lines snap, plaster and walls collapse.

The great, roaring quake pounds at California for interminable seconds. Hills crumble into valleys, the freeways bend like rubber bands, the Golden Gate and Oakland Bay bridges twist and pitch. The quake eases, now a cloud of dust and smoke 650 miles long billows the length of the state. In the dusty murk, the cities are exploding. From San Diego to San Francisco they are fiery explosions that light up the haze like a sparkling Fourth of July spectacle.

If this sounds like the conclusion of an old Cecil B. DeMille extravaganza, don't be deceived. Currently a rumor is raging through the state that a quake as big as the one that wrecked San Francisco in 1906 will hit this year.

As a result, several small Pentecostal congregations have sold their homes and moved away. Seers like Jeane Dixon and Maurice Woodruff are prognosticating earth tremors for 1969. And Hollywood agents say many of their stars have suddenly asked for foreign film assignments which will take them out of the state all this summer.

Most California geologists admit there is a chance of a major quake hitting the state sometime soon.

"The problem is that these scare predictions obscure the real dangers of earthquakes," complains James Brune, a geophysicist with the California Institute of Technology. "A date passes and people say, 'Forget about quakes.' But we're long overdue for a big one."

Cal Tech geologist Dr. Charles Richter, dean of this country's earthquake watchers, agrees: "It is inevitable that there will be a major quake in California. It could happen tomorrow. No place is exempt from the danger."

The focus of most of this anxiety is a deep crack into the crust of the earth called the San Andreas Fault. More than 650 miles long, it emerges from the Gulf of California below San Diego and eventually disappears back into the ocean north of the San Francisco area.

It is part of a zone of restless, constantly shifting rock that extends up through

The San Andreas fault at Carrizo Plains appears as if nature ripped the earth apart.

What to Do in an Earthquake

Here is Dr. Charles Richter's advice about what to do if you get caught in a quake:

- Don't panic, don't run wildly. Avoid damaged localities, broken wires.
- At the first gentle rumble, if possible, seek out a safe place to stand outside the house; otherwise, stay under a load-bearing doorway. If not possible, get under a near table. Avoid walls.
- If driving, pull over and drop to the floor.
- When the quake is over, check your home for fires and gas leaks. If you smell gas, turn off the main valve. Don't waste water (your lines may be broken). If your house is safe, stay there. Don't travel until you are certain you won't hamper clean-up crews and rescue workers.

destruction on a not-too-distant day—

Rock California?

Alaska, out along the Aleutians to Japan, then back through the Pacific via New Zealand, and up along the western coast of South America.

Geologists call the San Andreas a "strike-slip" fault. There are two large land masses literally rubbing each other the wrong way.

For millions of years, the west side has been moving northwest at a rate of one to two inches a year. Certain areas, however, do not seem to be moving. According to geologists, these "locked" sections are building up pressure much like a spring under tension. Eventually the spring has to snap. When it does, California will have a mammoth quake. The force released will be millions of times greater than that released by a nuclear weapon.

A $220 million Government program has been recommended to study earthquakes further. Scientists want to learn what causes earthquakes—and, equally important, how to control them. Here are some techniques being tested:

Fluid Injection: Scientists believe they could drill holes into danger areas and pump a large quantity of water into them. This conceivably would "loosen" the tense sections, producing some mini-quakes but no serious major ones.

The Wandering Poles: Geophysicists have noticed that the North and South Poles of the earth occasionally shift a few feet, and whenever one of these unexplainable polar shifts takes place, earthquakes follow. Scientists suggest a more careful tracking of this polar wobble.

Creep-watching: Researchers are presently developing a variety of new, ultrasensitive instruments for measuring earth movements. Scientists have already reached the point where they can now predict with some degree of reliability where the next tremors in the rock will take place.

"But the problem is that we still can't predict the violence of the movements," says Dr. Richter.

While the scientists are busy learning to predict quakes, California's politicians are equally busy trying to soft-pedal the danger of earthquakes. "We've lived with quakes all our lives," San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Aliota says fretfully. "San Franciscans know what to do if and when they do occur."

And what does the average Californian have to say about all this earthquake furor? Most of them seem fatalistic. Typical is the comment of a Los Angeles builder.

"The small ones can't hurt you," he says, staring up at the steep, brush-covered slope that looms over his home in the Hollywood Hills. "As for the big ones," he shrugs, "I guess you never think that a big one is going to hit." ◆

City official leaps across one of many fissures which split a section of Los Angeles.

Two lines on a winery floor show distance sections have shifted in movement of earth.

The Sunglasses of the NUCLEAR Age

The Atomic Energy Commission wanted lenses which would darken instantly to protect observers' eyes from the blinding light flash of an atom or hydrogen bomb. The finest chemical brains in the nation went into action and synthesized a substance which would darken automatically . . . which seemed to "know" how strong light was, and could fluctuate back and forth indefinitely between dark and light in accordance with the intensity of light rays. We call this "Substance N" in honor of Admiral Chester A. Nimitz who received the surrender of the Japanese on the deck of the Battleship USS Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

These glasses are the result of incorporating "Substance N" into good quality sunglasses. Within ten seconds after exposure to radiation these lenses react. They darken to protect your eyes.

Wasn't I klutzy-looking in these old snapshots?! I was 150 pounds.

I'd probably never be married now, if I hadn't lost 49 pounds

Dear Ruth McCarthy:

You don't know me, but I've been reading your stories about people who've lost weight and I'd like to tell you my tale.

I was a junior in high school. A fat, dateless teenager who spent her lonely evenings at the refrigerator. Either at my house or baby-sitting at someone else's. The bad thing about baby-sitting was that there was always food in the house, which turned into fat on my hips. Whenever I got a chance to dance (usually in the arms of my father at a family wedding), I looked like a bowl of jelly, jiggling across the floor. Sounds funny, doesn't it? But it wasn't. Particularly not when you had a slim sister, who dated regularly.

She and her boyfriend tried to fix me up with fellows, but who wanted to do the Twist with 150 pounds of fat. I kept telling myself that I'd outgrow it. I didn't. And you don't when you eat like I did.

My mother is Maltese and my father Czechoslovakian. When he married my mother, he insisted that she learn how to bake all those fancy Czech pastries. Of course, she had a few Maltese specialties of her own. And me, I just lapped them up.

By the time I'd become a junior in high school, however, I began to think more about boys than baked goods. Not too far from where I lived, in Flushing, New York, there's a very nice place that has dances for teenagers on Friday evenings. I used to go sometimes, but nothing ever came of it. I always wound up a wallflower.

Summers were hard, too. Bathing-suit time. Mine would always be one-piece. And black. I'd stay in the water, up to my neck, as much as possible. On the sand, I'd wrap myself in a robe and watch the others have fun. I'm sure they thought I was shy, but I was really ashamed.

After unhappy times like these, I'd try to "starve" myself. I'd lose a couple of pounds, but at the end of the week, I'd go on a binge and gain it all back.

Then one day I read an ad about a reducing-plan candy, called Ayds. And the word "candy" got me. This sounded like the answer to my problem.

After all, I thought, it wouldn't be like taking a reducing pill. And it wasn't, once I tried Ayds. One thing I liked, this candy contained no harmful drugs. And it was sweet enough to satisfy my sweet tooth, so I didn't feel I was denying myself at all. I just took one or two before meals as directed, with a hot drink. And it helped me control my appetite. Really. It was as pleasant as could be. I lost 25 pounds in three months. That's when my friends began to notice my looks. I even began to like the way I looked myself. In fact, I began to think about getting contact lenses. "Might as well go all the way," I thought.

When I reached 125 pounds, one of the girls got me a date for Rye Beach. It was great. And it was only the beginning. There were dates and more dates.

Every pound I lost motivated me to lose another. By the time I graduated, I had dropped to 115 pounds. And it wasn't long before I lost more. The only reason I took baby-sitting jobs from then on was to make money. Not fill up my evening.

After years of being wrapped in 150 pounds of fat, I was slim—and free.

I'm 5'2½" tall and today, I weigh 101 pounds, down from 150. In the measurements department, I've gone from 40" to 33½" in the bust; from 29" to 23½" in the waist; from 40" to 34" in the hips; and from a size 16½ to a size 5 dress.

Isn't that wonderful? And what really makes me feel good is knowing that I haven't gained any of the weight back in six years. And I haven't even had to continue using Ayds to stay slim. On the Ayds Plan, I had trained myself to eat less. And like it. And the habit has lasted.

In January, I was married to a wonderful man, who found it hard to believe I was ever heavy. During our engagement, I showed him the enclosed pictures of myself. I suppose it wasn't the brightest thing to do, but, thank goodness, it didn't scare him off. He did say though: "If I'd seen you when you were that big, I'd never have asked you out." And I'm sure that, without Ayds, I'd never have this wedding band on my finger today.

Finally Released In This Country!

SWEDEN'S MIRACLE FORMULA THAT MAKES SKIN LOOK YOUNG AGAIN

Clinical tests by leading medical authorities prove that new Swedish formula with natural food ingredients helps solve the problem of lines, wrinkles, and flabby, dry skin — ACTUALLY MAKES YOUR SKIN LOOK UP TO 15 YEARS YOUNGER!

Before you read another word of this exciting news release — let us set the record straight on some startling medical facts just recently published. Briefly stated it reads like this: Thanks to new scientific breakthroughs, medical science now considers a woman of 60 to be just approaching middle age! — a woman of 45 to be just reaching her prime years of youthful beauty — and a woman of 30 to 35 to be a mere "newlywed" when it comes to the appearance of her skin! I know that at first glance this may sound overly optimistic on the part of medical science . . . but not when you realize that medical science has at last tracked down the 2 factors in nature that cause your skin to age — has found a new way to cope with them — and a new way to help reverse this aging appearance in just a matter of days!

(New York, N. Y.); At a dramatic news conference today, it was revealed to America how a leading European specialist has finally discovered how to restore youthful beauty to aging skin. The secret is a totally new approach to the problems of aging skin — a new Swedish discovery . . . a chemical food formula that has been used in university tests, hospital tests and laboratory tests to actually make your skin look younger . . . up to 15 years younger, IN JUST 10 to 30 DAYS.

Then right before the eyes of the assembled reporters and beauty editors, this world-famous research scientist showed us a series of clinical photographs that clearly demonstrated how this new wonder-discovery made a 39-year-old woman, (Mrs. H. Dorland) look 14 years younger . . . and with nothing more than simple 5-minute treatments.

Yes, before our very eyes he had shown us living proof of stubborn forehead wrinkles actually fading from sight . . . of deep, ugly lines around the nose and mouth starting to vanish in just a matter of days. . . . of sagging, flabby skin under the chin . . . and loose, aging flesh at the neck looking tighter and firmer in virtually no time at all. In other words, LIVING PROOF of how a 39-year-old woman had actually "grown" 14 years younger! And this was only the beginning.

AT LONG LAST . . . SCIENCE PENETRATES NATURE AND FINALLY ANSWERS ALL 7 OF THESE AGE-REVEALING PROBLEMS!

1. Lines on the forehead
2. Lines at the corner of the eyes
3. Lines under the eyes
4. Lines around the nose
5. Lines nose to mouth
6. Lines around the mouth
7. Lines on neck, under chin

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS . . .

The amazing transformation you have just been witness to may seem like a miracle to unscientific eyes, but it is really a simple, natural process based on medical facts scientists and doctors have long suspected . . . but only recently have finally proven true. Let me explain:

"You see, as we age muscles and glands beneath our skin start to shrink in size. Instead of staying firm and taut (like in childhood) — they grow soft and flabby . . . and start to collapse. As they collapse — hollows, lines and wrinkles form — your skin loses its elasticity — and soon you are plagued with those tell-tale lines and signs of age that broadcast your years to the world. What causes this skin tissue collapse? — NOT a lack of moisture as you so often have been led to believe; because if only moisture was needed, you could simply rinse back the lost years of youth by merely washing your face with soap and water. No — it is not moisture, but a gradual diminished supply of essential nutrients your body is no longer able to supply to the tissues of your skin. In other words, your body literally starves your skin into aging.

CAN NATURE BE CHANGED?

But what if medical science proved to you that with a newly discovered food formula you could NOW actually diminish the ravaging effects of this aging process . . . actually restore the youth vibrancy to your skin. What if medical science demonstrated to you how with a thrilling new discovery compounded with natural food ingredients you could actually promote and encourage the appearance of fresh, new skin beauty . . . actually smooth away the coarse, rough surface tissues that for years have been masking the glow of your natural complexion . . . actually revitalize and replenish the beauty of your skin so that all those lines and signs of age begin to vanish in an incredibly short time.

Yes, in both clinical and laboratory tests . . . when this powerful chemical concentrate of this Swedish wonder formula was applied directly to the skin it went to work in an amazingly short time to help restore the vital vibrancy of dull, tired skin . . . restore fresh, youthful beauty . . . and help end that dull, aged appearance of lines, wrinkles and crow's feet ONCE AND FOR ALL!

NOW LOOK UP TO 15 YEARS YOUNGER WITH SPECIALIST'S 5-MINUTE TREATMENT

The name of this new-discovered chemical food concentrate is NUTRIVENA B25 . . . and never before has science been able to even approach the amazing results this great new discovery delivers. Yes, whether you are only a woman of 30 who is first starting to disclose the first faint ravages of time . . . or even a grandmother who never believed you could look young again . . . here is the miracle that modern science now offers you.

If you are in your thirties you will see all those aging effects of lines, wrinkles and crow's feet start to disappear ALMOST IMMEDIATELY. If you are in your forties . . . you will see that dry, sagging skin under the chin and neck start to appear smooth, fresher, tighter and tauter in a matter of days. And even if you are 55, or 60 or even 65 years old . . . you will see the horrid aging effects of harsh, ugly lines at the nose and mouth begin to melt away . . . NOT IN MONTHS — BUT IN JUST 2 TO 3 WEEKS . . . and you'll be astonished to have people think you are actually 15 years younger.

If you would like to try NUTRIVENA B25 on a complete no-risk trial basis . . . to see for yourself, how it can help you recapture up to 15 years of your youth here is all you need do:

Though less than five years old, our company already has started more than 400 men or women or man-and-wife teams in one of the most rapidly growing private businesses of the decade. It is a business which you can completely own and control, yet have the training, the financing, and the continuing help of the parent company. It is a business in which you make profits not only on your own efforts, but many times more from the work of others whom you supervise.

It is such a business that we invite ambitious men to consider. With a spectacular record of response in many areas of the United States, our corporation is now ready to appoint Pathway Plan Sales Coordinators in a limited number of additional marketing areas. Our success and the success of our coordinators has been built on two things—Product and Plan. Both are unique.

In describing just one of our products, a highly regarded marketing consultant said:

> "Seldom have I had a product submitted which so completely meets the requirements for instant public acceptance; for tremendous volume; for substantial profit margin; and for sustained and growing repeat business. The fact that $3 worth of Haste© gives the housewife the equivalent of about $30 worth of products she now buys from the supermarket, makes her an eager and steady customer. The fact that all your products are used up and bought over and over gives your franchised Sales Coordinators a growth and profit potential found in very few other non-food products."

All the Pathway Products are the result of modern technological advances in the research laboratory. Based on Space-age knowledge, they were designed primarily to make household chores easier for the housewife; secondly to make demonstrations so dramatic that the housewife who witnesses their action cannot resist buying.

The second factor which makes possible a profit potential of $2,000 a month or more is the Pathway Plan. No Pathway Product is to be found in any retail store. As Sales Coordinator in your area you may have from five to 30 people acting as your distributors. Since they must get their products from you as Coordinator, you make a profit on everything they sell.

If you have the desire, and if you can qualify for one of the areas now to be opened, you will receive complete training in all facets of the operation of your business. You will be shown how to hire and train others, how to keep records, how to build for steady growth. Experienced members of the headquarters staff will work with you in making a successful start and then will be available for help and guidance in promoting the rapid expansion of your business.

The Pathway Plan gives you many of the advantages usually found only in a costly franchise. Yet there is no "franchise fee" and no continuing royalty to pay. Your initial investment quickly comes back in cash as your staff sells the starting supply of products. Your total investment is $3,950.00, but for responsible men or women our Corporation will arrange financing for ⅔ of the cost so that your initial investment need not be more than $1,350.00.

The Pathway Plan is not one for dreamers or for those who expect success without effort. If you have the determination to be master of your own destiny; the determination to become personally and financially independent in a business of your own you may qualify. To learn more, merely send your name.

We will be glad to mail complete information free and with no obligation. Read the facts in the privacy of your home. Discuss the opportunity with other members of your family. Then, if you are interested in learning more about one of the areas now available, we will arrange for a personal interview during which we will reveal every detail of the Pathway Plan and acquaint you with every unique Product in the Pathway Line. Based on what you learn, you can then decide whether you wish to apply for appointment as a Sales Coordinator.

Asking for this information does not obligate you in any way. Merely mail the "Request for Information" printed below. But do not delay as the areas which are now open for new Coordinators may be closed within the next few weeks. Delay of even a few days might deprive you of this opportunity.

Judy Tries Hand At Black Humor

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

Here's a question to ponder: Why aren't there any black comediennes?

It is asked by Judy Pace, a beautiful black actress who would like to be a comedienne. She says there just aren't any—"Moms Mabley? I mean young ones; she was born old"—and it's a puzzler.

She's having an act written for her now, but it isn't easy. Should she be a female Cosby or a female Gregory? She just doesn't know which way to go.

Meanwhile, she acts. She had seven months on Peyton Place, did a juicy part in "Three in the Attic" and is set for "Cotton Comes to Harlem" with Ossie Davis.

But even, in acting, there is a problem, as she views it. She's never been interviewed for a part which wasn't written for a Negro girl.

"I'd like, just once," she says, "to go to a tryout and find myself competing against a redhead and a blue-eyed blonde."

She'd also like, just once, to find a black make-up man on the set—"I think I'd faint"—or a black hair stylist. She thinks it may change, but it will take a generation.

"This generation today," Judy says, "is not like its parents. This generation that's growing up now is going to make a better world."

If it makes a place for Judy Pace, bully for it—she's very pleasant to look at.

'Swim-Away' Geese Subject of Search

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — Zoo officials are engaged in a tame goose chase.

Some 21 tame geese swam away from the Roosevelt Park zoo last month during the flooding on the Souris River. The geese have their wings clipped and can't fly.

Zoo officials are asking Minot residents to keep their eyes open for wandering geese now that the floodwaters have receded.

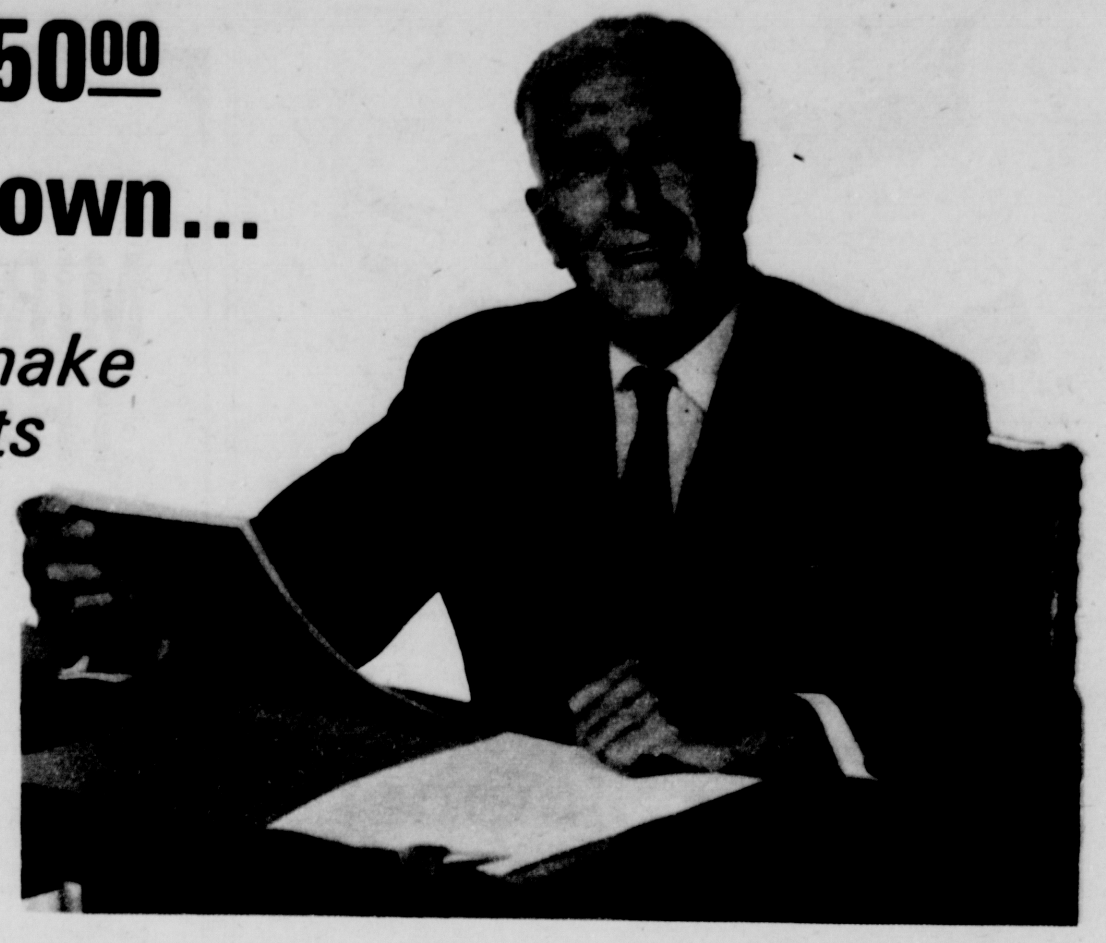
Would you invest $1,350.00 in a business of your own...



if you could expect to make $2,000 or more in profits

every month?

Would you be interested in such a business right now, if you could be certain of success before resigning your present position or giving up your present pay check? If your answer is "yes" send your name today for complete details, mailed free to your home.

By Jerome S. Shaw, Chairman of the Board.

Though less than five years old, our company already has started more than 400 men or women or man-and-wife teams in one of the most rapidly growing private businesses of the decade. It is a business which you can completely own and control, yet have the training, the financing, and the continuing help of the parent company. It is a business in which you make profits not only on your own efforts, but many times more from the work of others whom you supervise.

It is such a business that we invite ambitious men to consider. With a spectacular record of response in many areas of the United States, our corporation is now ready to appoint Pathway Plan Sales Coordinators in a limited number of additional marketing areas. Our success and the success of our coordinators has been built on two things—Product and Plan. Both are unique.

In describing just one of our products, a highly regarded marketing consultant said:

> "Seldom have I had a product submitted which so completely meets the requirements for instant public acceptance; for tremendous volume; for substantial profit margin; and for sustained and growing repeat business. The fact that $3 worth of Haste© gives the housewife the equivalent of about $30 worth of products she now buys from the supermarket, makes her an eager and steady customer. The fact that all your products are used up and bought over and over gives your franchised Sales Coordinators a growth and profit potential found in very few other non-food products."

All the Pathway Products are the result of modern technological advances in the research laboratory. Based on Space-age knowledge, they were designed primarily to make household chores easier for the housewife; secondly to make demonstrations so dramatic that the housewife who witnesses their action cannot resist buying.

DEAR POLLY—Save that empty waxed paper or aluminum foil carton. It can be a handy carrier for silverware, such as a slicing knife or other serving piece, which one must take to a covered dish social or picnic.—MRS. A. L. C.

DEAR POLLY---If your family's favorites are two different kinds of fruit or berry pies, you can make two pies in the same pan. Just by rolling out two pie crusts, line the pie tin with one crust, add the prepared fruit on one side only, fold the crust back over it and crimp the edges. Do the same with the other crust and use the other kind of filling.---MRS. R. K.

DEAR POLLY—When I have a lot of sewing to be done I take an old button card or a piece of paper and on the left side write the things I need to buy for the project such as thread, buttons, zippers, etc. On the right hand side I staple a piece of each fabric so it can be matched perfectly. This is handy to carry in my purse and eliminates any guesswork.—LINDA

Polly pays a dollar for every idea used. Send them to her, care of this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY—When our heater filters get dirty we take them to the gas station and blow the dirt out with the air hose. This makes them like new and saves buying new ones.—KATHY

DEAR POLLY---When you've lost the brush to your eyebrow make-up, just use one of baby's cotton tipped sticks. It makes your eyebrows more even, rounded and smoother. When finished, just throw it away.---JEAN

DEAR POLLY—I keep my plastic sprinkling can handy when re-warming corn bread, biscuits, etc., for I give them all a few sprinkles, wrap them in foil and place them in the oven. This way they taste freshly baked.—MRS. H.

DEAR POLLY---I find that one tablespoon of salt in hot water will help to remove stubborn spots on dishes. Let them soak in it for about five minutes.---SHERL

DEAR POLLY—To make a great looking bow for a package, corsage, scouring pad, pompon or pendant take three sheets of nylon net, each one a foot long and five inches wide. Stack them neatly, run long stitches through the middle down the long way and then pull the thread up and wrap it around, tie a knot and trim the edges. After the net is all fluffed out you'll have an attractive bow.—JONELL

What can Pathway do for you?

Perhaps they can do for you what they have done for so many hundreds of others. Men in blind alley jobs have been made owners of their own businesses; men who already owned businesses that were not prospering have been shown new potentials of growth and profits; both men and women whose earnings were limited by "job function" ceilings on salary. suddenly have learned to know the meaning of unlimited profit; and still others, blocked in their progress by "deadwood" at the top, have been shown how to leap over such obstacles into ownership of their own private businesses with the constant help and direction of the experienced corporate staff. What can Pathway Products Corporation do for you? Your name on the air mail post card will bring full details by return mail with no obligation to you.

PATHWAY PRODUCTS CORPORATION
60 Pompton Avenue, Dept. 9-B15
Verona, New Jersey 07044

Our corporation is now ready to help finance men and women in starting their own businesses.

If you have thought that owning a profitable franchise must cost $10,000 in Franchise Fees, you will welcome the fact that we have no Franchise Fee and do not require payment of any percentage of your profits.

For responsible men or women we will finance about two-thirds of the total investment. You will see that your initial investment will be rapidly recovered through product inventory which when sold by your staff will return in profits the entire cost of starting your business.

We have openings in every part of the United States from coast to coast. If you are interested, get the facts now. Specify on the card the name of the county or city and state in which you might want to settle. Mail the card today. No stamp is needed. Complete information will be mailed to you, free.

Mr. Jerome S. Shaw, Chairman of the Board

I am sending my name and mailing address in confidence with the understanding that no salesman will come to my home and that all facts will be mailed free and postpaid. In requesting this information I do not place myself under the slightest obligation. I will read the details of the Pathway Plan. After reading I will let you know if I wish to discuss the potential in my area with an executive of your corporation. After that I will decide whether I wish to take advantage of the monthly potential in the area named below. If I do apply I can make the investment specified in your announcement.
